LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe

Common garden sage brewed into heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol.

faded beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing with a little water, it is a real hair restorer. Hair, though, is troublesome. An easy way is to get the ready-to-use tonics costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as Wyeth's Sulfur and Sulphur, thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is so sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful locks. But, if you are tempted to darken your hair with Wyeth's Sulfur and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You can wash your hair with it each day and it draws this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared.

your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Why Battle Against CATARRH

In 24 Hours

I obtained greater relief than I had ever found in years of search before. Now I am cured, well and absolutely FREE from every trace of that loathsome disease.

I Will Gladly Tell You How FREE!

You Need No Salves, Lotions, Jellies, Sprays, or Atomizers; No Greases, Pastes or Ointments; No Plasters, Masks or Bandages; No Baths; No Massage or Electricity; No Smoke to Inhale and Choke You; No Surgery; No Vibration; No Instrument or Appliance; No Pain or Operation. My way is simple, easy, convenient, pleasant, painless, invisible.

Conquer Your Catarrh Or It May Conquer You

The Filthy, Disgusting, Hawking, Spitting, Coughing and the Awful Foul Breath Are Not the Worst of It. Catarrh is a Sneak-Thief That May Steal Your Health and Happiness.

Do you realize that catarrh is a serious disease? Do you realize that it is perhaps responsible for more ill-health than any other one cause? Do you realize that catarrh of the nose, from which almost everybody suffers more or less, is only the beginning, only the first mild symptom, only a warning of approaching danger?

Do you wake up in the morning with nose clogged up and your throat stopped up with an accumulation of poisonous mucous phlegm thrown off by the inflamed membranes of the air passages? Do you have to "saw-aw" and choke and gag and spit after you get up in order to get your head cleared out? If you do, heed that warning. It may not give you much trouble NOW—but it may not seem important. But it IS, it IS, it IS! I tell you it IS important. I KNOW it is because I, myself, have been all through it. I tell you if I realized this when I first had these early symptoms, I might have saved myself torture, misery, suffering and embarrassment that no words can describe.

If your catarrh has already become worse than this, if you now find yourself hawking and spitting all day long because of the constant dripping of the mucous filth in your throat, if you have taste in your mouth which destroys your appetite for food and a breath that makes people turn away their heads when you go near them, if your hearing is affected, if you have those awful, blinding, catarrhal headaches, and other advanced symptoms there is all the more reason for you to get busy and get busy RIGHT AWAY. You may think THESE symptoms are trouble—some, and you may think of doing something to get rid of them, but take it from me, even THESE symptoms are NOTHING as compared to what catarrh symptoms CAN be when neglected. If you could only know and realize the frightful out! Don't fool yourself. A lot of it does collect in your throat, true enough, but a lot of it also gets DOWN YOUR THROAT and INTO YOUR STOMACH. And that doesn't happen only ONE night, but EVERY night. Is it any wonder that people have CATARRH OF THE STOMACH, CATARRH OF THE BOWELS and CATARRH OF OTHER VITAL ORGANS? Is it any wonder that the appetite fails, that digestion fails, that the bowels fail to act properly, that the blood becomes impure, that strength and vitality are lost, that health is ruined and lives are wrecked by the ravages of catarrh when it once gains a firm hold upon the system?

Is it any wonder that after suffering its most frightful and disgusting tortures for years, after seeing my friends shun me as they would a leper, after having tried everything under the sun that I could hear of and wasting a lot of money for salves, lotions, inhalers, instruments and devices, electricity and such things, after having been through it from the first mild symptoms to the stage where it undermined my health, destroyed my happiness and threatened to wreck my very life, is it any wonder, I say, IS IT ANY WONDER that I feel like shouting—YES SCREAMING the glad news of my cure to every catarrh sufferer in the world, and telling everybody of the simple, easy, painless, inexpensive way in which I WAS cured after all else failed?

WRITE TO ME—WRITE TO ME, NOW—NOW—NOW, if you suffer from any of the symptoms of this awful, loathsome, disgusting disease.

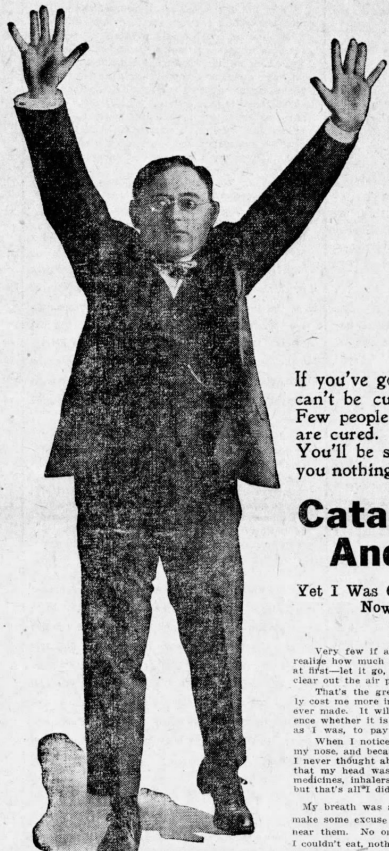

Victim of Catarrh as Unwelcome as a Leper.

penalty I paid for neglect of early symptoms you would think and think hard. Yes, you'd do a lot of thinking and you'd do MORE than think. You'd be mighty busy trying to find something to kill and clean out the millions and billions of germs that are nesting, breeding, feeding, thriving in your nose and throat and filling these parts with their disgusting, poisonous, health-destroying filth.

In the daytime you know that the poisonous catarrhal mucous drops into your throat because you have to spit it up. Now think of what happens at night when you are asleep? Do you think for one minute that these little germs—the catarrh germs—sleep when you sleep, do you think the poisonous mucous dripping in your throat stops when you are asleep, or do you think it all remains in your throat till morning when you wake up and spit it

Let me tell you how I fought catarrh germs every minute of the day and night, how I fought them while at work, while out in company, while at the theater and other places of amusement, while awake and asleep, without any one ever seeing me do it, without any one ever knowing it, and how I finally conquered the disease and freed myself from its abominable clutches to my own unbounded joy and the surprise of all who knew me.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT MYSELF

I don't want anybody to think from what I say that I claim to be a great doctor, a wonder-working scientist or a performer of miracles. I don't claim to have any mysterious power.

I am NOT a doctor. I can't work miracles any more than you can, and I haven't got any mysterious power over disease or anything else.

I'm just a plain, common, everyday business man, who has found out, after a lot of suffering and a big waste of money, a simple, easy, yet most effective way to fight catarrh, a way that cured me, cured my friends and cured scores of other people.

I know by my own experience that catarrh is a nasty, miserable, stubborn disease. I know that ordinary methods of treatment often have no effect. I know what an awful time sufferers have trying to find something that WILL CONQUER catarrh, and I know there are thousands of sufferers who will be glad to learn the simple, easy way I conquered MY catarrh after everything else I tried proved a failure.

I want to tell every catarrh sufferer in the world how I did it. So don't hesitate about writing me. SEND ME YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS and let me tell you. And DON'T WAIT—DON'T DELAY—DON'T PUT OFF.

You've got my address in front of you right now—right there on the coupon. Fill in the spaces and mail it right off—before you lay this paper down. It will only take you a minute and then it will be done. If you wait you'll forget it, the paper may be thrown away or you may lose the address and this announcement may not appear here again.

After Suffering Years

I conquered the disease that was robbing me of every comfort, every pleasure. I cured myself, I cured my friends in a wonderful, simple, easy way that astonished all who knew me.

I Want All to Know How FREE!

If you've got CATARRH get rid of it. Don't let anybody tell you it can't be cured. IT CAN be cured. I know it can; I've proved it can. Few people ever had it worse than I did, and I am cured. My friends are cured. Write to me, send me your name and let me tell you how. You'll be surprised to learn the simple, easy way it's done. I charge you nothing for this information. I want the whole world to know.

Catarrh Ruined My Health And Almost Wrecked My Life

Yet I Was Cured By a Wonderfully Simple Means When All Else Failed. I Am Now Free, Free, and I Know That Others Can Be Free. Send Me Your Name and Let Me Tell You How.

Very few if any people ever have catarrh any worse than I had. None but those who have it had can fully realize how much suffering it can bring. Most people who have a mild catarrh are inclined to do just as I did at first—let it go, let it run on without treatment or perhaps with only the occasional sniffing of a little water to clear out the air passages.

That's the greatest mistake that anyone can make. I consider it the greatest mistake I ever made. It certainly cost me more in suffering, loss of happiness and comfort, as well as loss of money, than any other mistake I ever made. It will be one of the greatest mistakes YOU ever made if you neglect YOUR case. It makes no difference whether it is a very mild or very severe, and you will never know how TRUE this is until you are called upon as I was, to pay the bitter penalty for your neglect.

When I noticed the first symptoms of catarrh I paid little attention to them. I used to sniff salt water up my nose, and because that would clear out the passages and make breathing easier, I thought I was getting relief. I never thought about it getting worse until my folks began to tell me about my awful breath. I began to notice that my head was clogged up nearly ALL the time. Then I began to look around for a remedy. I bought patent medicines, inhalers, syringes and ointments. I used to be squirting dope into my nose all day long. I got relief, but that's ALL I did get. As soon as I stopped using these things I would be as bad off as before.

My breath was awful and my best friends would make some excuse to get away as soon as I would go near them. No one knows how this hurt me. I got so I couldn't eat, nothing tasted good, in fact, I just about lost my sense of taste and also my sense of smell. I sniffed and I hawked and I spat continually until I was ashamed, but what could I do? I could not help my disgusting habits any more than any other catarrh sufferer can.

I felt filthy and loathsome. My stomach went back on me and my food would not digest. I was weak, had headaches and was half sick all the time. I was melancholy, had the blues, lost ambition and felt like sneaking off in some obscure corner of the world away from everybody.

All the time I was trying first one thing, then another, I read about catarrh in medical books. I tried things that everybody I tried good and I tried things nobody else ever heard of. I was desperate. I had to make my living and I realized that unless I found a cure I might soon be unable to work, and I certainly had no desire to die in the poorhouse.

Then came the happiest day of my life—the day I found the simple, easy, wonderful means by which I was absolutely cured. The very day I felt that my deliverance was at hand because the effect was absolutely different from anything I ever used. My new method enabled me to fight the disease every minute of the day and night without continually sneezing and squirting stuff into my nostrils. And O, the relief! The English language has no words that express the joy I felt when I found that I could throw away all my contraptions and my salves, when I found myself getting better every day when folks began to notice and tell me that my breath was not nearly so bad. When I began to enjoy my food again, and found that people did not run away when I went near them.

Almost before I realized it my cure was complete. Every symptom of catarrh was gone. My head was clear, my nose was free, my throat was in my throat, no more headaches, no more bad taste, no more bad breath. I felt fine. Everbody said I looked better. I could eat what I liked and I got fat and strong again. People began to ask me what it was that worked such a wonderful change in me. I told them and many of them tried my plan with the same wonderful results.

DUCHESS DE RICHELIEU'S SERIOUSLY ILL

Popular American Woman Afflicted With Malady Which Puzzles Doctors

Atlantians will be interested in a recent dispatch in the Knoxville Sentinel, stating that the Duchess de Richelieu is critically ill with a mysterious malady in a hospital at Sommes, France. The dispatch came from Baltimore, the birthplace of the duchess.

The Duke and Duchess de Richelieu visited Atlanta last spring after attending Mardi Gras in New Orleans. They were entertained lavishly by Atlanta society, and made many friends here.

When in Atlanta, the Duke announced he was hurrying back to France to join his regiment. When he returned, he found his wife's bedside in Sommes or in the front with his regiment, is not known.

The Duchess de Richelieu was Miss Marie Douglas Wile, formerly the daughter of Rear Admiral Frederick Wile, of the United States navy. She was one of the most beautiful and popular young women in American society.

She and her husband visited New Orleans last Mardi Gras, especially because that city was the home of the Duke's mother, who was Miss Alice Heine, a noted belle of the city. The Duke de Richelieu, father of the present duke, the duchess married the Duke of Monaco. Later they were divorced.

According to the Baltimore dispatch, relatives of the Duchess de Richelieu are preparing to sail from New York to Europe to reach her home at Sommes. She is in the care of eminent continental physicians. The Duchess is charged of an English trained nurse, but it has been impossible so far to discover the strange ailment from which she is suffering.

N. B. BROWNE CHARGED WITH FORGING NOTES

Arrested on Municipal Warrant Sworn Out by J. S. Greene; Made $200 Bail

Charged with forging notes amounting to $100, N. B. Browne, an insurance man, is in custody here, and was arrested Saturday by Deputy Marshal Lasseater, of the municipal court. Browne made bail of $200.

J. S. Greene swore out the warrant in the municipal court, charging Browne with forging the name of J. H. Means to notes aggregating $100. Greene alleged that Browne came to him, and showing him those notes, asked him to sign them. Greene refused to do so, and when the notes came back last week, found out from Means that the latter had never signed the notes.

Green and Means went to Browne's house, it is alleged, and there obtained a confession from Browne that he had forged the notes. Browne was arrested, and the notes were seized. Browne is said, however, to have been released from the municipal court and to have gone to the city of New Orleans.

SENATE FILIBUSTER OVER SHIP MEASURE REMAINS UNBROKEN

Senator Lodge said he was hoping that the buying of interned ships would precipitate grave international complications with Great Britain, France and Russia, and would "start this nation on the highway of war."

AGREE ON RECESS.

During the day it was the expectation on both sides that the ship measure would be carried through tonight and into Sunday, but at 4 p. m. Senator Kern, tactical leader of the administration forces, secured unanimous consent for a recess until 10 a. m. Monday.

Senator Simmons announced he was authorized to deny reports that the administration was considering withdrawing the bill from the senate. He could say authoritatively, he declared, that there was not one scintilla of truth in the report.

In the evening Senator Smoot, who talked all night last night, his remarks taking up eleven and a half hours, resumed in the morning, apparently much refreshed and ready for another long distance argument, should his services be required.

The galleries were filled with spectators on both sides of the chamber. Many who had come for a brief rest returned to the chamber. Senator Smith, whose speech took the morning, was the first to speak. The administration, engaged several democratic senators in brief colloquies.

Senator Smith, "The people who heard him speak in the chamber," he said, "heard a distinguished audience at the treasury answered: 'Not a damn thing.'"

"Did I understand the senator from Michigan to say we have heard this?" asked Senator Chilton. "I was struck," Senator Smith replied.

"And was struck dumb," asked Senator Chilton, precipitating an uproar in the chamber and galleries.

Senator Hardwick May Yet Vote for Measure BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.—Senator Thomas W. Hardwick may vote for the administration ship measure bill, when the Democrats break down the Republican filibuster and attempt to pass the measure through the senate.

While the junior senator from Georgia is undecided in this respect, the principle of government ownership of shipping facilities, it is believed, is possible that his loyalty to the Democratic party and his relations with the present majority may lead to a determination to vote against the measure.

Senator Hardwick has been obviously embarrassed by the shipping bill, and the senate situation is being developed. He feels confident that the people of his state are in favor of government ownership, but he feels also that his administration and his steadfast support of the measure have been understood and endorsed by the people of Georgia in his campaign.

The fact that the Democratic conference on an overruling day, accepted the challenge of the Republicans and made the shipping bill a party measure, makes it doubly hard for the Georgia senator to stand by his well known convictions.

He has yielded none of his opinions as to the wisdom of the measure, but in view of the circumstances that have arisen it is possible, if not probable, that he will join with his Democratic colleagues in helping out the administration.

AN ENDURANCE CONTEST. The filibuster has resolved itself into an endurance contest, and here the Democrats enjoy every apparent advantage. They outnumber the Republicans, and individually, and collectively, they are more vigorous and better able to withstand the hardships of continuous sessions.

There are fifty-three Democrats in the senate, whose total record vote is 2,889 votes. The average age of the Democrats is 44 years. The total age of the forty-three Republicans is 2,584 years, and the average is sixty years.

The oldest Republican, Stephenson, of Wisconsin, is close to sixty years, and the oldest Democrat, Bankhead, of Alabama, is fifty-seven years. The youngest Republican, Kenyon, of Iowa, is thirty-six years, and the youngest Democrat, Smith, of Tennessee, is thirty-four years.

Indeed, there are nearly a dozen Democrats younger than the youngest Republican, among them: Hardwick, Sheppard, of Texas; Ryan, of Florida; Smith, of Tennessee; Lewis, of Illinois; Thompson, of Kansas; Hughes, of Ohio; Hollis, of New Hampshire; Gore, of Oklahoma; Ashurst, of Arizona; and James, of Kentucky.

The Democrats have the young blood, and in a contest of endurance such as this they have a decided advantage. Yet, Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, aged seventy-eight years, stood on his feet for eight hours Friday, drank three glasses of milk, two glasses of water and never left the senate chamber. He talked all the time. His age considered, his feat was even more remarkable than that of Burton, of Ohio, the champion long-distance speaker of the senate.

W. G. RAUL FOUNDATION MAKES

Foundation Reached 400 Cities Directly During Past Year

The second annual report of the W. G. Raul Foundation has been issued. It contains a separate report from the president, Mr. E. G. Hodgson; from the treasurer, Mr. T. K. Glenn; and from the secretary, Major R. J. Gunn.

The report shows that the year 1914 was a year of constructive work. The foundation reached directly 400 cities, towns and villages in Georgia with the aid of its agents.

The officers of the foundation express their high appreciation of the cordial cooperation and help that have been rendered by the various churches and women throughout the state; from the Southern Baptist conference, which carried their packages free; and from the newspapers, which have given them the widest publicity.

The financial report of the treasurer shows an excellent showing. Over and above the capital fund of $50,000, the foundation has received $2,537.75, and from the sale of the Raul Foundation's investments for the year's work was $1,534.64.

POLICE ARE BLAMED FOR LETTING BURGLAR ESCAPE

Mrs. Fuld Says if Cops Hadn't Walked Out He Might Have Been Caught

Mrs. Joseph Fuld, wife of the deputy city clerk, told The Journal last night that a burglar who had ransacked the Raul residence at 412 Glenn street had escaped because the police said they would have to walk out to the house.

"You know the street car company won't permit us to ride free if we don't pay," Mrs. Fuld said. "The police declared: 'We'll have to walk out. That may put a little on us.'"

The burglary occurred between 7 and 9 o'clock, Mrs. Fuld declared, and at 10:15 o'clock the police did not arrive. She said she and Mr. Fuld were out from 7 to 9 o'clock, and when they returned and opened the front door, they heard the back door slammed.

She thinks this was the burglar making his escape. "Everything in the house was torn up," Mrs. Fuld declared. "They even tore up the beds. If the police had come, they would have caught the thief. Mr. Fuld offered to pay their fare."

Stocks Were Moderately Strong

For Short Saturday Session

Recoveries of One to Two Points From Friday's Low Level Were General—Another Reduction in Minimum Price of Steel

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Stocks were moderately strong today after a short Saturday session. Recoveries of one to two points from Friday's low level were general. Another reduction in the minimum price of steel was announced. The short interest again was prominent, mainly because of the covering of railroad securities. There were some counter movements in the special division, a few of the low priced issues being back, while many others were substantially in the execution of an increase dividend.

Steel, which sold at its minimum of 40 cents, was one of today's most active issues. Recoveries of one to two points from Friday's low level were general. Another reduction in the minimum price of steel was announced. The short interest again was prominent, mainly because of the covering of railroad securities. HONOR GUEST AT DANCING PARTY

—Home Photograph by Lenny.

The attractive guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Durant, she will share honors with Miss Mildred Hazen, of Orange, N. J., who is visiting Miss Mignon McCarty, at the dance given by Mrs. Durant on Wednesday evening at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. Dexter Entertains

A lovely compliment to Mrs. Henry Bingham, of Paris, France, the guest of Mrs. Lee Lewman, was the party given by Mrs. George Dexter Saturday afternoon at the Druid Hills golf club.

The guest prize and the prize for top score at each table were dainty French novelties.

After the game the guests assembled in the ballroom at a prettily appointed table, which was adorned with a basket of pink rose buds, the handle tied with tulle.

Mrs. Dexter was crowned in blue and white, combined with chiffon.

The guests included Mrs. Bingham, Mrs. Lewman, Mrs. Robert Alger Smythe, Mrs. Henry Miller, Mrs. George Randall, Mrs. Albert Howell, Mrs. Frank Meador, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. R. S. Witherspoon and Mrs. Lewis Dick.

Evening Entertainment

The Knights of Macabees arranged an interesting entertainment which was held Wednesday evening at their hall, 45 Central avenue.

Mr. Newman Lacer, supreme officer of the Fraternal Aid Union of America, and past master of the Grady tent, Knights of the Macabees, delivered an interesting address. Prof. Roymus gave several mystifying illusions and musical selections were rendered by Miss Julia Kuhn, Mr. H. H. Williams and Mr. Oppenheim.

After the program refreshments were served, and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

FEBRUARY offers a wide and varied scope of entertaining in both formal and informal ways. Hyacinth and daffodil lifting eager flower faces from out the brown earth gives the promise of approaching spring, while the keen breath of the north wind continues to make the open fireplaces the clubs and homes filled with glowing logs a very cheery background for the bridge parties and informal gatherings. Lent falling about the middle of the month will cause many of the larger entertainments to be dated for the opening days of this last of the winter months. Several affairs are being planned on a large and elaborate scale before the forty days of the quietude come to put an end to the bright season, among them being the Valentine ball to be given by the Nine o'clock on Friday evening at the Druid Hills Golf club and the Valentine celebration on the evening of February 12 at the Piedmont club. Several festive days fall close together in February, and among them may be enumerated Lincoln's birthday, Valentine's day and the birthday of George Washington. Each of these occasions has its own special symbols. "Plain living and high thinking," which usually characterizes the celebration of Lincoln's birthday comes as a relief to the average hostess who finds herself, perhaps, just a little tired at the end of the gay season. The simplicity characteristic of the gay society is usually observed on these occasions and the fact that dinner may be served anywhere from 2 to 6 adds its quota of novelty. A hundred and one wifely wiles may be used for Valentine's day which always arrives in a shower of hearts and is the day when the little love god reigns supreme. Plans for Washington's birthday are legion and the pretty and original effects to be obtained with bunting, tiny gaily colored flags, hairpins and cherries have a never-failing charm for hostess as well as guests. Of late Mrs. Martha Washington has shared honors with her husband and the kindly countenances of both radiating a cheerful greeting from miniature place cards seem to bespeak their own enjoyment in the birthday celebration.

Carefully Treat

Children's Colds

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble. On the other hand, it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always indoors.

Fifty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vicks' "Vapo-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest at the first sign of trouble, will keep the little chap free from colds without injuring his delicate system. 50c, 60c, or $1.00.

RUNAWAY JUNE DRAWING BIG CROWDS TO STRAND

Reliance Serial Divides Honors With Zudora and "Keystones" This Week

Runaway June, Zudora in the $20,000,000 Mystery and Keystone comedies, form the mainstay of a week at the Strand theater to which Atlanta movie fans look forward with eager interest, interspersed also with several Majestic, American and Thanhouser features which never fail to please.

Runaway June already has captured the hearts of all who have seen it, and on Friday the Strand is filled to capacity every hour of the day. The fourth episode will be shown this week, "Poor Little Runaway June," in which all parties get hot on the trail of each other, the man with the Black Vandyke after June, June's husband after her, Mrs. Hix after the Vandyke man, and June herself after anything that will tell her the full story of the next episode.

As given on page 6 of The Journal's Sunday magazine.

The switch from "Zudora" to the "$20,000,000 Mystery" has furnished film lovers with drama that is just about three times as exciting and mysterious and thrilling as any serial of recent date. The spectator with the bloody heart makes its appearance in the film next Monday, and thrills abound.

Manager R. Lee Smith has booked a good line of Keystone comedies for the week, including a two-reel Wednesday for joy to be a scream from Ricker to Ricker. "Keystones" are a watchword for joy and laughter unlimited with many Atlantans, and few who have seen one will miss the others.

ALPHA THEATER OFFERS THREE FAVORITE STARS Grand Marks Anniversary Week With Strong Films

King Baggett, Pauline Bush and Billie Ritchie in Three Feature Films

Pauline Bush, King Baggett and Billie Ritchie are three of the stars that will be seen this week at the Alpha theater. Pauline Bush, in "The Measure of a Man" on Tuesday, King Baggett in "The Millionaire Engineer" on Thursday and Billie Ritchie in "After Her Millions" on Friday.

"After Her Millions" is an LEO comedy in three reels and enough laughs to make it a perpetual chuckle. The whole story is that two bums try to force their acquaintance on an heiress, but the forcing thereof creates comedy in carload lots. Billie Ritchie, who is said to have been the first man to start slapstick stuff on the stage, comes into his own in this film and adds new laurels to his reputation as a funster.

King Baggett and Pauline Bush play the leads in "The Millionaire Engineer," an exceptionally well-pictured drama that is packed with thrills from beginning to end. The climax is reached when the president of the road drives an engine at top speed through a roaring forest fire with his own coach following him.

King Baggett is at his best in this scene.

The eternal triangle is the basis of "The Measure of a Man," with the plot hanging on a matrimonial situation unique and gripping. Miss Bush, favorite of many film, takes the leading role. The Alpha has looked several good dramas and comedies for each day of the week.

Four big features, each of them a star production, will be shown at the Grand this week. The program follows:

Monday and Tuesday, "The Price He Paid," a drama of unusual strength, based on the celebrated poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in which there is interwoven one of the most serious problems that confronts the world today. There is a suggestion of "Damaged Goods" in the story and critics who have seen the feature pronounce it one of the greatest exponents of a social problem that must be worked out sooner or later, that has ever been seen on a motion picture screen.

Wednesday and Thursday will be shown a double bill—"The Covered Wagon" and "The Tip-Off." The former deals with a sensational kidnapping by a band of thieves of a young girl who subsequently becomes heiress to an immense fortune and the efforts of friends to locate her.

"The Tip-Off" is a story of police methods and crooks, and reveals the inside workings of the police court and of the most nefarious gang of underworld characters located anywhere in the country.

Friday and Saturday will be shown the great drama, "The Naked Truth," with the famous Lydia Borelli in the leading role. This is a French story of life in the Latin Quarter, adapted from the famous novel of the same name by Henry Barlowe.

The Grand is observing its tenth anniversary under the management of Arthur S. Hyman and his associate, P. T. Barbour, and as a special attraction it is offering this week four of the biggest single features ever shown in a motion picture theater.

SCHOOL FOR THE MOVIES ESTABLISHED IN ATLANTA
Local Talent Will Be Used in Pictures by New Producing Company

Atlanta girls will have a chance to enter the motion picture game soon, according to Edwin Bower Hesser, for years a well-known movie producer, who has established the Hesser School of Motion Picture Acting on the sixth floor of the Forsyth building and is preparing to film a series of features here from his own scenarios.

Hesser is very much pleased with the scenic possibilities about Atlanta, and intends to use bits of Stone Mountain and other beautiful spots in his productions. Pupils from his school will take leading parts in the pictures.

Hesser says he has seen more pretty girls in Atlanta than anywhere in the country, any of whom could develop into movie actresses provided they have the necessary histrionic ability. He will start filming his scenarios late in February.

Frank Wells Day, of Atlanta, has been named secretary and business manager of the school.

ALICE JOYCE MONDAY AT THE ALAMO NO. 2

Good Films Booked for Entire Week, and Jimmy Flynn Sings

Alice Joyce, declared by many to be the most beautiful woman now playing in motion pictures, is the star in an exceptionally strong and well-filmed drama at the Alamo No. 2 Monday.

"The Swindler," in which Miss Joyce appears this time, is a two-reel LEO picture. On Monday's program with it is "Calamity Kate," an uproarious Vitaphone comedy.

Tuesday's offering at the Alamo No. 2 includes an all-star company in a three-reel Broadway feature, "How Clear Black Good." The leading roles are taken by Clary Fitzgerald and Julia Swayne Gordon.

"The Third Act," a Biograph drama, and "The Combination," a Vitaphone comedy, are booked for Wednesday and Thursday's feature is "The Attorney for the Defense," a gripping LEO romance. "Third Hand High," a two-reel Essanay, will be shown Friday with several other good films, and on Saturday the big feature will be "Winning the Old Man Over," a Biograph drama.

MOVIE MAN PRAISES ATLANTA'S PROGRESS

Arthur Lucas on Visit Here Speaks Highly of Senator Hoke Smith

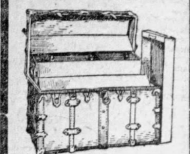

Arthur L. Lucas, district manager of the Mutual Film corporation, with headquarters in Philadelphia, spent several days in Atlanta last week with A. C. Bromberg, manager of the local branch. Mr. Lucas is a Georgia man and still holds citizenship in this state. He is filled with the Atlanta spirit and is more than pleased with the splendid progress of his native city.

In his duties Mr. Lucas is a frequent visitor to Washington City. Commenting on national affairs and the part played by Georgia, he said:

"At one time in my life I was opposed to Senator Hoke Smith. I have no apologies to make, but it is with a pardonable degree of pride that I point to him as the senator from my native state. He is recognized as one of the bravest and most powerful men in the United States Senate and is doing a great work for Georgia and the nation."

"Atlanta is on the map in the east, and her wonderful progress is a topic of conversation on Pullmans and in hotels throughout the country, and on each visit here I become more imbued with the Atlanta spirit. It is always a pleasure when my duties bring me to Atlanta."

Penn. All-Stars On Track Could Clean-Up Field

Red and Blue Can Boast the Most Famous Collection of Cinderpath Athletes That Ever Represented a College

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—An all-time University of Pennsylvania track team would not only swamp anything any other college could offer as opposition, but it would also sweep away with the intercollegiate championship or the Olympic games, it called into action.

The 100 yards would call to the mark for the Red and Blue, Donald Lippincott, who cracked the 100-meter world's record at the Olympic games and who has finished about in 9.4-9.5 seconds for century; J. K. Westover, who did 9.4-9.5 seconds on the heels of Arthur Barry, when the Georgetown flyer did 9.5 seconds, and which and which N. J. Cartmell or Texas Hammett. Cartmell was no time runner, but he won the intercollegiate 100 yards three times, and never had to beat 10 seconds to win. Hammett whipped Ralph Craig, of Michigan, in the intercollegiate one year before Craig won at Stockholm, Sweden.

The 200 yards would be the line Lippincott, who holds the intercollegiate record with 21.5 seconds. N. J. Cartmell, who did 21.5 seconds on the grass in England, and Water Twickenbury, who did 21.5 seconds in the intercollegiate, would be the men to watch in this race, and who could have lifted the record if he had a mind to train of there was anyone right on his heels all the way to the tape.

FAST CLATTER MILERS.
The Red and Blue could summon a team of 440 yards, which would be the starting with Ted Meredith, the Olympic and intercollegiate record holder. The latter, Johnny Taylor, with a mass of 18.5-20 seconds, made at Cambridge, Mass., after being beaten by a man until the last 60 yards, would be the man to watch. Harry Hyman, who did 42.5 seconds, would be the final selection for the quarter-mile.

The half-mile. Ted Meredith broke into action. Facing luck alone, he was the man to watch. He was a runner who had won the 440 yards last year, and he was the man to watch. He was a runner who had won the 440 yards last year, and he was the man to watch.

KANSAS-ALLEN WOULD STAR.
Kansas secured the two-mile race, would have the great Alex Grant, who is a Penn man, turned American and was eddium course runner. He carried any race, and as a rule he had taken them alone for a mile. His last year was wonderful, and often after a hilly race Grant would give a sprinter, A. C. W. Bowen, who was in 1912, would be the man to watch. Bowen was a runner who thrived on the race who reached his best in the 2-mile race.

What more could be asked than A. C. Krausnick, who did 11-12 in the 1200 yards and 25-24 in the high hurdles? Krausnick later became the champion of the German Olympic team. He was an intercollegiate champion, won the 100 yards, the 120 yards, the 220 yards and the 440 yards, and he was the man to watch. He was a runner who thrived on the race who reached his best in the 2-mile race.

HARE IN HAMMER THROW.
Krausnick would be called out for the broad jump, and let it be known that he could slip over 6 feet in the high jump, run 100 yards in 10 seconds, beat 11 feet in the pole vault and more anywhere in the 220-yard dash, if not win, for Murphy could beat him better 21.5 seconds for the event. Krausnick, with 24.1-2 inches, would certainly help out in the broad jump, with Tom Hare as the third man on the list.

Penn was never strong in the weights, but Murphy, McCracken and T. T. Hare in the hammer, and Boyd, McCracken and Hare in the shot would be the selections.

In a high jump the Red and Blue would be able to summon W. Byrd Page, Tom Murdock and J. D. Windsor. All were champions, and this would leave out Burdick and Irving K. Baxter, who both cleared 4 feet 2 inches and won the intercollegiate.

Baxter, who could pole vault with the best of them, and who was as good in the snow as he was in rain or sunshine, with Sewell and Deakin, former with a record of 12 feet 5 inches, and the latter tied for the championship in 1911, would produce a good trio of vaulters.

GOLDEN RULE ADVOCATED BY SECRETARY BRYAN

HALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 29.—The golden rule as a guide for both national and international dealings between men was advocated by Secretary of State Bryan in an address here today before the North Carolina conference for Social Service. Man must have a clear conception of his duty, to his fellowmen, he declared, before he can perform any work to the best advantage.

Secretary Bryan touched upon the liquor question briefly. He declared that the conservation of the health of the country was of more importance than all of the natural resources we have. Dealing with the child labor question, he declared no state, individual or community has a right to deny a child the chance to play and study. He declared that person who denied children this right should be made subject to drastic punishment.

CHICAGO WOMEN PLAN FIGHT ON BREAD PRICE

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Housewives of Chicago will be asked to make their own bread from a cheaper grade of flour, or from potatoes if necessary, to combat the threatened advance in bread prices. Mrs. H. V. Hols, chairman of the women's committee of the Clean Food club, announced today.

"White bread is a bait and we shall, women should declare an embargo against it if prices are raised and use, corn, potato and brown bread in-

May Set Records In Auto Races

Billy Carlson, of Maxwell Team, Expects Record Performances at Frisco Exposition

That the course inside the exposition grounds at San Francisco will be established for both the grand prize and the Vanderbilt cup events, which will be held February 22 and 23 respectively. He is a racer who has won the four-mile course, new records will be set for both the grand prize and the Vanderbilt cup events, which will be held February 22 and 23 respectively. He is a racer who has won the four-mile course, new records will be set for both the grand prize and the Vanderbilt cup events, which will be held February 22 and 23 respectively.

As Carlson predicted accurately the sensational time at Corona and San Diego—the last two big events on the road racing calendar—race critics are justly expecting his promised sensational performance. He is a racer who has won the four-mile course, new records will be set for both the grand prize and the Vanderbilt cup events, which will be held February 22 and 23 respectively.

There are (30) stretches in the exposition grounds where his Maxwell will be thoroughly guarded will also enable the racers to do their best. He is a racer who has won the four-mile course, new records will be set for both the grand prize and the Vanderbilt cup events, which will be held February 22 and 23 respectively.

Recent racing events have plainly shown that the cars which will figure in the classics of 1915 will be faster by six or seven miles an hour than those which contested the road events of last year. That they are also able to run continuously much farther than those of last year, at both San Diego and San Francisco, in each of which races one of the Maxwells went the entire distance over three hundred miles without stop for any cause. Both performance records of the world's records for automobile endurance.

OLDEST MAN IN BASEBALL HAS NEVER BEEN GONE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 30.—The oldest man often mentioned in baseball has never seen a game. He is David Ribbet, of Cleveland. For twenty-five years he has been present at every game in Cleveland's baseball park, and on such terms of intimacy with the stars of the diamond that they have called him "Dad" and "Uncle," but David refers to the club as "Phat's how much of a fan David is."

If Ribbet lives until March 13 he will be ninety years old. For the last four years he has been the watchman in the clubhouse of the Naps. He says he has reached the century mark. "But I don't ever expect to see a ball game," adds Ribbet, quick as a flash. "I am one of those kind of men who always stick at their post, no matter what is happening near by them."

For eighteen years Ribbet operated the turnstiles at the bleacher gate. He says he sometimes grew a bit curious to learn what was happening when thousands of fans shrieked their applause at a ball game, but he never deserted his post of duty.

And now Ribbet can't tell a three-base hit from a strike out. He says he has been a fan ever since he was a boy, but he never saw a game until he was past sixty years old, says Ribbet.

Donovan Hears Diamond Record Boost for Rooky Book Is Issued

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Manager "Wild Bill" Donovan, of the New York Americans, has returned from Philadelphia to assume managerial responsibilities. Manager Donovan made the most of his short respite in Philadelphia. In that city he got in touch with a Catcher, Schwert, the former University of Pennsylvania captain, who finished the season with Roger Penningsburgh. Schwert has shown a slight disposition to hold out, but Donovan believes he has talked the young man into a favorable frame of mind.

"Schwert has virtually accepted my terms," said Wild Bill yesterday. "I believe the club will have his signed signature within a day or two. I could have secured his signature, but did not wish to do so before I consulted Captain Huston."

"Friends of mine in Philadelphia who saw the collection in American league ranges declare that he showed great promise. Of course, I know nothing of his ability except from hearsay. He has youth in his favor and I am anxious that he get every chance to make good."

In Philadelphia Donovan also visited a young player named Moore, who had been recommended by Trainer Doc Barrett. Moore is a semi-professional. He is a left-handed first baseman. Wild Bill learned that the young man, who has been around Shibe park for some time, has just signed with the Cedar Rapids, Ia. team. He had taken this step because the former owners of the New York failed to respond to several letters and telegrams concerning the prospect of a major league contract.

Ensley Dealer Finds Apt Use For Side Car

Merchant of Alabama Town Builds Delivery Car on Chassis of His Harley-Davidson Side Car—Great Scheme for Rapid Delivery

The recognition of the motorcycle for commercial use in the south is being clearly demonstrated by a new and novel idea which has been put into use on the streets in Birmingham. K. J. Anderson, of Ensley, Ala., a suburb of Birmingham, a dealer in sewing machines, also rides a 1913 Harley-Davidson, three-speed with a side car, as his business calls him out over considerable territory in the county, and he is often called on to make quick delivery of a sewing machine.

Being quite a genius he set his talents to work and developed a means of delivery with his side car and motorcycle which deserves attention. He has taken off the body from the chassis of the side car, and has built onto the chassis a substantial bed of strong oak with cleats which are held down by heavy thumb screws. He has ample room to put two sewing machines on the chassis, fastening them securely to the bed with thumb screws, and carry them over the roughest roads without the slightest injury to the working parts of a sewing machine.

With the aid of his motorcycle and chassis as arranged he has increased his sales quite considerably. His arrangements are such that he can readily reach the regular body of the side car back on the chassis, using the same thumb screws again, fastening the side of body securely.

His outfit has created considerable attention in and around Birmingham, and several local men have offered to back him and to make a delivery outfit, and to manufacture and sell his product. This, with the many other business ideas that are using the motorcycle for delivery purposes, is paying the way for an increased business of the Harley-Davidson motorcycle in commercial service. So far this season order have been received at the southern branch that have placed their celebrated three-wheel trucks for delivery purposes in quite a number of points throughout the south.

The Porter company, of Jacksonville, Fla., a large clothing concern, is getting a delivery outfit, as are also the Perry company, of Durham, N. C. Blue Ribbon shoe company, of Birmingham, and several large dry goods and furnishing stores in Birmingham. The Dozier and Smith company, of Atlanta, Ga., has a Jacksonville, Fla., have these trucks in service in both places, and orders for more were received from Anniston, Ala., the other day to be used by a grocery store in that city. The Birmingham company in Decatur, Ala., delivers all of its work with a Harley-Davidson truck. The parcel post of the post office at Nashville, took splendid service this machine. The post office at Louisville, uses sixteen Harley-Davidson trucks and the cost of upkeep and maintenance has been surprisingly low for them. The truck used by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, of Akron, Ohio, is a familiar sight on the streets. Harley-Davidson dealers all over the south are expected to concentrate quite considerable efforts during the coming season towards this fast growing feature of motorcycle business.

Pitcher Elmke, the Los Angeles pitcher, who has signed for next season with the Washington club, may not be asked to report to the Senators because he has been growing so fast the last year that he is not strong enough to stand the heavy work of the big league. He is only 19 years old and is 5 feet 2 inches tall.

Derrill Inslett, of Sioux City, bowled 13 consecutive hours that's enough to make a man's head ache.

Inslett bowled 227 in a Chicago game. Match him with Kossuth or Barrell.

"Kid" Gleason Through With Diamond Game

Veteran of Twenty Seasons in Baseball Says He Has Played His Last Game—Recently Drew His Release From White Sox

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—"Kid" Gleason, for twenty odd years a figure in baseball, has quit the national pastime. When the rejuvenation of the Perry company, of Durham, N. C. Blue Ribbon shoe company, of Birmingham, and several large dry goods and furnishing stores in Birmingham. The Dozier and Smith company, of Atlanta, Ga., has a Jacksonville, Fla., have these trucks in service in both places, and orders for more were received from Anniston, Ala., the other day to be used by a grocery store in that city. The Birmingham company in Decatur, Ala., delivers all of its work with a Harley-Davidson truck. The parcel post of the post office at Nashville, took splendid service this machine. The post office at Louisville, uses sixteen Harley-Davidson trucks and the cost of upkeep and maintenance has been surprisingly low for them. The truck used by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, of Akron, Ohio, is a familiar sight on the streets. Harley-Davidson dealers all over the south are expected to concentrate quite considerable efforts during the coming season towards this fast growing feature of motorcycle business.

Gleason, a Philadelphia, and who dined the other theory for a longer period than any active pastime alive, was assistant manager of Comiskey's team. Gleason, possessed of one of the keenest minds in the game, saw the handwriting on the wall, and when it spelled "release" had nothing to say except a few observations on the game, the principal of which was:

"I'm through."

"Never will I put on a baseball uniform again," continued the "Kid." "My experience has all been out of the game on the field, and now that I have reached the parting of the ways, I know when I've had enough. Baseball has changed much in the past years. I am few fellows like to sit back and watch a star, and say, 'young fellow, how will you take it when the day comes?'"

"But what's the use? I have been expecting my release ever since the baseball season decided on carrying their players to the limit. Twenty-one men the American league will carry this year, and some of them will have a ball player and twenty men. My release is not the unexpected. I received a letter from Jimmy Callahan when he was relieved of the club management in which I was told that I might expect the act."

"It is the Federal league that is causing this policy of retirement. Since the Federal league failed to fall by the wayside and not play dead, both the big leagues have been troubled. The American and National league club owners did not expect the Federal league to continue the fight this year; in fact they didn't think the 'feds' would outlast the season of 1914, and when the 'outlaw' continued the warfare the major leagues were more than surprised."

"I was offered the management of the Brooklyn Federal league club less than one month ago, and declined, because I am not ambitious to manage a baseball team. It isn't much pleasure to manage a baseball team under existing conditions. With a league willing to talk business with the players at any time, it is hard to keep discipline among the players of clubs in organized baseball, and I imagine it would be just as hard to keep the Federal league club in line. It isn't the easiest thing in the world to get the players to do what you want them to do. As long as conditions remain as they are today, the life of the manager will be anything but a bed of roses. I have been through the mill and know whereof I speak. However, this will have to worry some one else, for I do not intend to bother myself with baseball again."

Boykin Pleased Feds Establish With New Line Minor Circuit

J. M. Boykin, of the W. J. Dabney Implement company, which organization has recently taken on the agency for Maxwell cars in this territory is very highly pleased with their new line. Boykin will have charge of the automobile department, and he went carefully over the offerings in the automobile field before his company signed up for the Maxwell line. He believes that the Maxwell line is one of the biggest propositions ever before the automobile business during the current year.

Mr. Boykin will be assisted in handling the automobile line for the company by Mr. Perzmann, formerly associated with Studebaker corporation. New showrooms are being opened up at 160 South Fourth street, and the public is cordially invited to pay an early call.

Dave Fultz has pleased organized ball very much of late by pointing out the harm that is being done the national game by players that jump their contracts to the Federal league. The Federal league has not been in good standing for some time before.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 30.—James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, announced today after a conference of baseball men, that the Federal league would have bought master contracts in England. He declined to indicate definitely the cities it would embrace, but said it was planned to put teams in those places where organized baseball is not played. He said he had had conditions in New England much more favorable for such an organization than in the United States.

President Gilmore said the league would be made up of eight clubs, financed locally. The Federal league will finish each with six players. The club will pay the Federal league $200 a month for each player, the player's salary is in excess of that amount.

Jack Knight, who has been selected to manage the Cleveland American association team for next year, has had plenty of experience. He played on early all of the eastern teams of the American league before he dropped back into the ranks of the big minor league.

New Chandler Big Sensation at Chicago Show

F. W. Northcutt, of John M. Smith Company, Returns From Visit to Windy City and Tells of Interest Created by Cut Made in Price of Car

F. W. Northcutt, sales manager for John M. Smith company, has just returned from the Chicago show, and reports that the show, this year, is one of the best, so far as business is concerned that has ever been held; manufacturers and local Chicago dealers reporting that even more business is being done than at the New York show.

"The sensation of the Chicago show, this year, is the Chandler Motor Car," says Northcutt. "The most wonderful thing in regard to this year's show is the fact that the Chandler at $1,295 is essentially the same car that has proven so satisfactory, and which has been sold up to the present time at $1,545; no change whatever being made in any part of the construction. Features like the Bosch Magneto, Gray & Davis two-unit Starting and Lighting System, Rayfield Choke, Prestone Delmonico Valve, Gold One-Man Top, Mayo Cellular Radiator, and the same marvelous motor, made in the Chandler factory are contained in the car at the new price."

"It is wonderful to see the interest created by this new announcement throughout the entire country. Telegrams from dealers in all parts of the United States are coming to Chandler headquarters, daily, requesting information in regard to territory and dealer contracts. Experienced dealers all naturally wanting to secure a car for a line which, no doubt, will prove a wonderful selling proposition."

"The Chandler factory, while comparatively a young organization, is made up of men who are really 'old timers' at the automobile business, and the real reason the Chandler can be produced at such a wonderful price as $1,295 can only be appreciated by those who have visited the Chandler factory, and have seen the economical way in which the organization is run. The Chandler Motor Car company has already let out contracts for new buildings and have bought master contracts for a year, sufficient to increase their production in production, and the fact that they purchase all of their materials for cash is the principal reason why they can turn out this car at the price."

"We have handled the Chandler car for nearly a year now, and have had quite a number of them in the hands of owners here in Atlanta, and throughout the state. Reports from these owners

Hendee Offers New Feature

One of the most interesting features to be found on the latest type of motorcycle for 1915 is now being shown in the display rooms of the Hendee Manufacturing company's branch at 457 Peachtree street. The Indian machine, which during the past few years has introduced the cradle spring fork, the spring frame, footboards, foot clutch control, kick starter, and all the other radical departures from the usual type of construction, is this year showing models having the majority of the nickel work finished in black Japan, such as handbars, knobs and other parts most liable to rust.

The great advantage of this innovation is readily apparent, especially to such riders as use their mounts for business purposes. Solicitors, collectors, delivery boys and others whose business takes them on the road are not inclined to leave their little or no time in which to care for the rust that is liable to develop. Hendee has found that constant exposure under unfavorable weather conditions will cause the nickel parts to rust in spite of their efforts to the contrary. It is to relieve this situation that the new finish has been put upon the market. It will appear regular upon the Indian four horsepower service models, which are designed primarily for delivery service, and can be secured at optional equipment on all other models, including the big twins and the three-speed models.

The Illinois crowd, which has the capacity of Illinois field, and it is hoped to have the first section of the stadium completed in two years. Action was taken by the board.

CONCERT SUNDAY NIGHT AT ATLANTA TURN VEREIN

Members of the Atlanta Turn Verein and their families will be entertained at a concert Tuesday 8:30 o'clock at the Turn Verein hall. There will be singing under the direction of Professor F. W. Wedemeyer, and music by Wedemeyer's orchestra.

One of the best assurances to us that the Chandler car is everything that the factory claim for it, and we feel that we have secured the most valuable automobile contract for the new season, and have backed our faith in the car to the extent of doubling our contract."

Mr. Ward is very much interested in the Federal league suit and discussed the question at some length. He pointed out that the hearing last week before Judge Landis in Chicago was simply the preliminary skirmish in the litigation. Even if Judge Landis decides in favor of the Federal league, that case can be construed as a victory for the independents, because the temporary injunction, if granted, will extend for twenty days, when the suit itself will be heard.

In the event of Judge Landis deciding that his court has no jurisdiction in the matter, the case will probably be thrown out. It is not likely that the Federal league will appeal, because this would put the case over into the baseball season of 1915, and not the summer of 1914, when the Federal league was to carry the legal campaign to the point where they will in any way interfere with the playing season. Baseball men have come to realize that they take very kindly to the prolonged legal and political features of baseball. What they want is the game itself, and the less the public knows of the inside workings of the organizations the better they like it.

SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 31, 1915.

"LONG PERIOD OF SUNSHINY DAYS JUST NOW WOULD WORK WONDERFUL REVIVAL OF TRADE" DELIGHTED WITH LAST WEEK'S BRIGHT DAYS
JOBBER WANT MORE

Practically Two Months of
Have Made Country Roads
Well Nigh Impassable
COUNTRY RESIDENTS NOT ABLE TO VISIT TOWNS
Shopping Has Been Curtailed
and Cotton Has Been Kept From Market—"More Sunshine Now, More Business"

The few days of bright sunny weather, the last part of the past week sent a thrill of delight throughout all the Atlanta wholesale trade. It was the first period of weather favorable for practically two months and it certainly came both as a relief and as a benediction, with every earnest hoping for a continuation of the clear, bright days, would more than any other thing to advance the revival of business. It would put new life in all channels of commerce.

In fact there has been so much rain throughout all this section that it has prevented practically all outdoor work, both in the city and on the farms. Carpenters and builders, and in fact every man who works in the open air, has found it impossible to do much work during the past sixty days even though he has a job or contract for it, and in the country notwithstanding the fact that much winter wheat and oats have been planted, the farmers intended doing a great deal of spring planting of cotton, but until now this has been held up on account of the protracted rainy season.

Another feature of the weather conditions that has been detrimental to business is the fact that in the country the roads are in such fearful condition that there has been little or no travel of country people to the towns for the purpose of either marketing cotton or buying goods. Under these conditions the merchants in the small towns found little demand for any part of their stock, and therefore they have been low and in need of replenishing.
The continuation, however, of bright weather, country dealers have come to town and when they get there they will be going to the merchants for two months they have bought little or nothing. In many cases farmers who would like to sell their cotton have been unable to get it to market on account of the bad condition of the roads.

"MORE SUNSHINE."
Everywhere during the latter part of last week there was heard the general exclamation, "If we can only have a continuation of sunny days, business will boom!"

"If the weather will help business in the south, then an advance of another cent per pound for cotton," said W. L.
Percy, of the Dobbie & Wey Co. "In fact, our north Georgia salesman stated to us only recently that in his section very few of the country people have been able to get to town to make any purchases. Both the consumers and the dealers need the goods, but weather conditions have prevented the demand from being supplied."

"The demand will be doubly great because of the fact that it has been very few of the country people have been able to get to town to make any purchases. Both the consumers and the dealers need the goods, but weather conditions have prevented the demand from
being supplied."

"A continuation of the good weather would be fine for business," said J. B.
Morrison, of the A. M. Robinson company. "We would feel the effect of it very quickly. On account of weather conditions merchants generally have been holding back from buying as much as they otherwise would."

"Continued good weather would bring a decided improvement in business," said P. D. Yates, of Ridley-Williamson-Wright company. "I believe that just now we need a continuation of open weather more than any other one thing."

would help everything," said J. K. Orr, of the J. K. Orr Shoe company. "Good weather, an improvement in country roads, and 8-cent cotton are now the three great factors in southern business. If this combination is allowed to continue for a time, we will see a big improvement in all phases of business."

"If this pretty weather continues," said W. O. Stamps, of Paine & Stamps,
"why, you will see goods of all kinds at cut at wonderful rates. Just give us a pretty weather now, that is what we need."

DELAY TRADING.
"I know of nothing that would stimulate business more than a continuation of the present weather."

tion of the beautiful weather which had the latter part of the week," said
E. P. Lewis, of the McClure Ten Cent company. "Some of the merchants who have been in to see us recently state that some of their customers have not been in to see them for sixty days, due to the rainy conditions and consequent bad roads. Everybody has been saying, 'When the sun shines I will buy more goods' and they have been holding off until that condition prevails."

"A long spell of pretty weather just now would mean much to all forms of trade," said Lynn Fort, of Lamar & Hankin Drug Co. "In fact practically sixty days of cold, rainy weather has prevented outdoor workmen in the cities from plying their occupations and it has also prevented the farmers in the country from attending to their spring farming. I know this from my own experience. I had a job of carpentry work done at my residence, which in times of fair weather would have taken only about ten days; but as it was the workmen were unable to complete it on account of the weather for six weeks.
Every day of sunshine means thousands and thousands of dollars to trade everywhere."

"Orders are coming in right along," said W. T. Bell, of the John Deere Plow company. "There has been a good improvement in business and with the continuation of pretty weather I expect to see business show a marked advance
all along the line."

"A continuation of pretty weather would revive business considerably," said J. A. Redwine, of Dougherty-Little-Redwine company. "In many counties of the state we understand that the roads have been almost impassable. In fact it has been stated to us that in some sections it took a team of stout mules to pull even one bale of cotton to market. Continued pretty weather would open up business everywhere."

DIXIE CO. IS MAKING A DELIGHTFUL SYRUP
First Cases Sent Out to Trade
Last Week—Will Prove Popular

The newest product which the Dixie Pickles and Preserving company is placing upon the market is their Favorite brand syrup. This syrup has a beautiful, clear color, with maple flavor, and is put up in pint and quart bottles. It makes a beautiful package and the flavor and quality of the syrup will unquestionably cause it to be a ready seller wherever it is known and used. The Dixie company was busy last week packing up the syrup and getting out the first shipments to the trade.

"I am perfectly delighted with the new syrup, which we are now putting up," said E. A. Hancock of this company.
"It seems to me to be all that can be required of a syrup in the way of quality and flavor. I am sure that our dealers and through them the consumers, will find this a most satisfactory piece of goods from every viewpoint.

"We are noting a very nice increase in our business. This increase is steady but sure, and is an indication of an active trade year."

Fine Produce Season
"This is one of the best seasons for fruit and produce that I have ever seen," said W. O. Stamps, of Paine & Stamps. "This kind of food products is now both good in quality and low in price. We are doing about 50 per cent more business in the fruit and produce line than we did last year."

FULTON COUNCIL, 505,
PLANS WINNING BALL TEAM THIS SEASON

Played Fine Baseball Last Year—Expects to Exceed Record This Year—Candidates Asked for Tryouts

Fulton council 505, U. C. T. expects to put out a winning baseball team among the amateur organizations of the city this spring and summer. This council had a fine team last year but already plans are under way to make it 1915 team the best that it has ever had.
Much baseball enthusiasm was developed last year among the U. C. T.'s of Atlanta and it is expected that this enthusiasm will be sustained and enlarged during the present season.

"We want all applicants who desire to register for try-outs upon our team to notify me at once," said E. L. Wallace, secretary of Fulton council, in discussing baseball prospects for next year.
"We want the preliminary work completed as early as possible and the positions assigned with practice and development in order that the team may go forward with practice and development in a smooth working organization. It was at the last meeting of our council that we adopted plans for the organization of our 1915 baseball team. You may pay for us that we expect to play some ball. We had good material last year from which to organize our team and no doubt we will have better this year."

said T. J. Monroe, southern manager of the Grand Lake company, manufacturers of paper bags, toilet and wrapping paper. "We have secured an addition of 10,000 square feet in this building.
Our stock is coming in all the time and is being properly arranged and put in shipshape for being sent out quickly to the trade. Through we have been doing business only since the first of the year, we are having a very gratifying trade, indeed, with indications of a fine increase as the year goes on."

"WASTEFUL ECONOMY" CARDS DISTRIBUTED

The J. K. Orr Shoe company has distributed to the trade several thousand cards which define what is "wasteful economy." These cards are small, handy, and show how the buying of cheap shoes is not economy in the end because they wear out so much faster, necessitating a new purchase in a short time. The cards call particular attention to the "Once a Year" brand of the Red Seal shoes, an investment in the end because they wear out so much

U. C. T. CHARITY BALL
HAS BEEN POSTPONED
UNTIL DATE IN APRIL

All Committees Have Been Retained—Will Make Affair in April Greatest Ball Every Known in Atlanta

The big charity ball which was to have been given by the U. C. T. of Atlanta under the auspices of Atlanta Council No. 15, on February 17, has been postponed until some time in April.
The postponement is due to the fact that February 17 is Ash Wednesday and the beginning of Lent. The general committees and all of the subcommittees, however, will be retained for the arrangement of plans which will be announced later. From the preliminary work which the committees had done
it was apparent that the occasion was to be one of the largest and most successful that Atlanta has ever seen, and why the event was postponed. When this will undoubtedly be the case when it does take place in April.

The postponing of the U. C. T. Charity Ball from the 17th of February to some time in April, however, will be retained for the arrangement of plans which will be announced later. From the preliminary
work which the committees had done
it was apparent that the occasion was
to be one of the largest and most successful that Atlanta has ever seen, and
why the event was postponed. When
this will undoubtedly be the case when
it does take place in April.

Owing to the fact that the majority of our general committee on arrangements for the charity ball were not familiar with the customs observed by the different denominations, we had decided to have the ball on the night of February 17. We find that this is a day observed by many of the churches, and as we do not wish to conflict with other organizations, we have decided to postpone this ball until some time in April.

The committees have not been dismissed, but have been advised to hold themselves in readiness to answer to roll call some time during the month of March; at which time we will definitely decide just when this ball will be given.

We wish to thank all of those who have been so kind to the arrangements thus far, and trust that we will be able to count on these same people when we again undertake this entertainment.

We will appreciate it if you will give this letter as much prominence as possible.

Thanking you for your assistance, I am,
Yours very truly,
H. D. BRACEFORD,
Chairman General Committee,
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 25, 1915.

The horse is your friend and mainstay, both from the standpoint of sentiment and economy.

His good deeds inspire friendship, and his service yields profitable returns in cash.

The average work-life of the horse is five or six years, and then some.

His cost of maintenance is small. The risk incident to his work is slight.

This good animal's record began with the world and will only end with it.

For many reasons the horse is indispensable, and no man-made

CITY SALESMEN OPPOSE SUNDAY FRUIT SALES

Goes on Record as Opposed to Resolution Introduced in Council

Editor Firing Line:
The city salesmen of Atlanta, realizing that there is a certain element in this city which does not respect the Sabbath, and having their attention called to a resolution that will come before the council introduced by Councilman Dallas of the seventh ward, to allow fruits to be sold on Sundays in Atlanta, went on record by motion, unanimously, opposing said Dallas resolution.

They also feel that if this resolution is passed by council it would be a great step backward for Atlanta, and with protest, with all the determination possible against such a step. We do not wish our Sundays to be desecrated by any open stores in this city and we make an appeal to council and to the public in general to come to our aid and back us in killing said Dallas resolution.

Respectfully,
CITY SALESMAN ASSOCIATION,
By H. D. SHACKLEFORD, Press Committee.

STERLING GUM GAINS IN POPULARITY HERE

Distributor Here Notes Increasing Demand and Inquiries From Jobbers

"We are noting that Sterling gum, of which we are sole distributors in this territory, is gaining a great deal of popularity not only with consumers but with jobbers and retailers," said E. E. Malone of the Capital City Tobacco Company.

We are getting quite a number of inquiries from jobbers who wish to handle this very popular line. Mr. Harry Michaels, the special representative of the company, has been working in the interest of Sterling gum in this territory for a number of weeks and through his good work and the merits of the gum, has succeeded in making it very popular indeed.

HIRSHBERG SAYS IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

"It certainly pays to advertise," said I. A. Hirschberg of the Hirschberg company. "Several weeks ago we advertised in the Firing Line our Paragon stripe stationery. Since then we have had all we could do to keep up with the orders for it and keep a supply of same. It proves popular wherever it is sold or used."

O. G. Hopper, sales manager of the Lowney company, was a visitor at F. W. King & Co.'s last week. The King company are distributors of Lowney's candles in this territory. Mr. Hopper, in company with T. B. Everett, of the King company, visited Macon, Augusta, Athens and Kennesaw, and opened up several new accounts in these cities. F. W. AKENS AFTER TRIP NOTES IMPROVED TRADE

F. W. Akens, representing William Simpson Sons & Co., of Philadelphia, was in the city last week visiting the dry goods jobbers. The increased price of cotton has given a decided stimulus to all forms of trade."

will be an unusually good program of songs and other music. The public is cordially invited to be present, especially the ladies.

Only Window Shade Factory in the Southeastern States Making Shades Exclusively for the Wholesale Trade

A striking evidence of the growth and expansion of the Rosenfeld company is the fact that their window shade manufacturing plant, which they installed the first of the year, is now running on full time and at full capacity. And already the company is instituting plans to enlarge the plant and install many modern labor saving machines.

"The Rosenfeld company is the first and only window shade making factory in the southeastern states manufacturing window shades exclusively for the wholesale trade," said A. W. Rosenfeld of this company. "One of the machines which we expect to add within a short time is capable of producing four hundred dozen of complete shades per day. This will be for the production of stock shades and will be exclusive of our special work. At present we are able to take care of all orders that are coming to us and can fill special orders the same day the order is received. Our entire plant is arranged with the idea of giving special attention to prompt service. We expect to make this one of the important features of our business and are sure that our service and facilities will much appreciated and sought after by the southern trade."

J. K. Orr of the J. K. Orr Shoe company, while on his recent visit to St. Louis, sold five of the biggest retail shoe men in that city good orders for Red Seal Palm Beach shoes, and this too in the home of big shoe factories.

Samples of New Styles Sent Traveling Salesmen Last Week

The M. C. Kiser company was busy last week sending out samples both of the company's Palm Beach shoe and of the new ladies' colonial pumps with colored cloth tops to its traveling salesmen.

"We are perfectly delighted with our new style Palm Beach shoes," said C. J. Sullivan, of this company. "These are the real Palm Beach article and we are sure that they will have a wide demand throughout all our territory. The Palm Beach suit and Palm Beach shoes enjoyed a tremendous vogue last summer and from all indications will be still greater this year. We are preparing to fill the anticipated demand with the best and most stylish shoe that is to be found anywhere. "The popularity of the Palm Beach suit and the Palm Beach shoe is due to the fact that they are stylish, very comfortable, and are to be had at moderate prices. This is a combination that is irresistible in summer wear."

Editor Firing Line:
The boys of the U. C. T. have been looking forward to the big charity ball to be held under the auspices of Council No. 18 and now that this great time has been postponed until April our boys are looking for something unusual to be pulled off in the council chambers.

It has been the custom in some councils to have one meeting in each year called past councilors' meeting. At this meeting all stations are filled by past councilors. It has been suggested, Fulton council last night, February 20, would make an interesting program for all U. C. T.'s. At the meeting some of the chairs would be filled by past councilors of Council No. 18. Will give you special attention on this event later. Among our members who visited Council 18 last Saturday night were Brothers J. L. Moore, W. H. Arnold, R. L. Wallace, E. B. Baker and W. G. Moore.

Everyone was highly entertained. Sincerely yours,
W. G. MOORE,
Chairman Press Com. U. C. T. Council No. 18.

UNCLE SAM CO. HAS GOOD SHIPPING FACILITIES

In a recent number of the "Bakers Helper," which is a magazine, devoted to the interests of the baking trade, and published in Chicago, there is printed the following:

"To the average grocer, bread is bread. He fails to see how or why one bread is better than another."

The Schlesinger-Meyer Baking company say that the improved conditions do not prevail in Atlanta. They feel gratified that the excellent quality of Uncle Sam bread is recognized by the grocers in this territory and that they give this Atlanta-made pure food bread their enthusiastic support.

EIGHT-CENT COTTON HAS AIDED TRADE GREATLY

If Farmers Would Sell More Cotton Trade Would Soon Be Normal

"Eight-cent cotton has caused a great deal of the staple to be sold, and the money applied to the payment of debts," said J. K. Orr, of the J. K. Orr shoe company. "The resulting stimulus to business throughout the south has been marked on every hand, and if more of the farmers will sell their cotton and put the money into circulation in the way of the payment of debts, the business of the south will soon return to normal conditions. I know of nothing else that will have a more direct and immediate effect upon our southern commerce."

LEWIS FINDS HIMSELF IN DIFFICULT DILEMMA

Two Prospects Want to Open Stores in Same Town; Asks Help

Two of "Opening Bill's" prospective customers have decided on the same town as an ideal location for a dollar store, and he must find another town that needs a ten-cent store, and is equally as good as the one they both have in mind. Then comes the task of getting one of the customers' consent to make the change.

Mr. Lewis says he is having more calls for locations for stores than at this time last year. His explanation for the increase in business is: Everybody can buy a nickel or dime's worth and the buying public in the small towns are asking the merchants to add five and ten-cent departments or open dollar limit stores.

MRS. DICKINSON JOINS SILVEY OFFICE FORCE

Mrs. Laura Grant Dickinson is the latest addition to the office force of John Silvey & Co. Mrs. Dickinson is private secretary and stenographer to R. K. Rankin. RUSS BATES LED ORR SALESMEN LAST WEEK

W. D. Beacham was the leader in the second division of the sales force during the past week, with Cliff Johnson second and Jesse Bates and C. L. Walden following in the order named. It is to be noted also that Jesse Bates sold a nice opening bill during the week.

MARIETTA CHAIR CO. IS TO RESUME CAPACITY RUN

Hardly a day passes but what brings some evidence of the recovery of business. They add that it is understood that the other chair factories in Marietta will do likewise.

Mark Hirschberg, of Hirschberg Brothers, continues to show increased sales in his Florida territory.

These folks are big contributors to the material welfare of this city and community. They are large employers of labor. They pay out wages regularly to several hundreds of people.

These employees pay out their earnings for food and clothes.

THEY buy in Atlanta---these employees do.

They buy in Atlanta stores. They rent Atlanta houses. They call in Atlanta doctors when ill. They make more business all around.

Yet there are wives of Atlanta merchants and doctors, owners of Atlanta renting property, housekeepers whose living is made out of these wage-earners---and they don't think it matters if they themselves give the preference to goods manufactured elsewhere.

There are Merchants who are evidently of the same mind. Surely this is due to thoughtlessness.

"Evil is wrought for want of thought As well as want of heart"

says the poet. In which he was mighty right.

It cannot be a willful wish to deny our Home Manufacturers a fair show---we won't believe that of Atlanta folks---consumers or dealers.

It's just because they have never worked out the relation between themselves and the community.

They forget---or never think---that what benefits the whole town is bound to bring individual benefit.

They seem not to realize that every factory and producing-center in Atlanta means added wealth and prestige for the town and that whatever makes the town grow makes general business grow.

Wouldn't you help in this matter if you really could?

There isn't a consumer or a dealer in Atlanta but can be an active factor in Atlanta's success and prosperity.

The way is simple enough: BUY HOME MANUFACTURED GOODS.

If you are a consumer, demand Atlanta-mades from your dealer.

He can get them---if he wants to. The telephone is handy. That's all it takes. These manufacturers are right at hand---ready to sell him.

If you are a dealer, carry Atlanta-mades and offer them to your customers. Show your spirit. Play fair.

Woman of Seventy Is Enrolled Now as High School Pupil

Mrs. Helena Hart, Formerly of Rome, Ga., Is a Student at Yeatman High School, in St. Louis--She Has Children and Great-Grand-Children

ROME, Ga., Jan. 30.—They are studying Latin Grammar. The teacher—surely she can't be more than 25—is asking for the conjugation of an irregular verb. The pupil, a girl of only 18, is stumbling in her answer. First, there is a vain attempt to remember the prefixing parts of speech; then, in stashed failure, she stands silent.

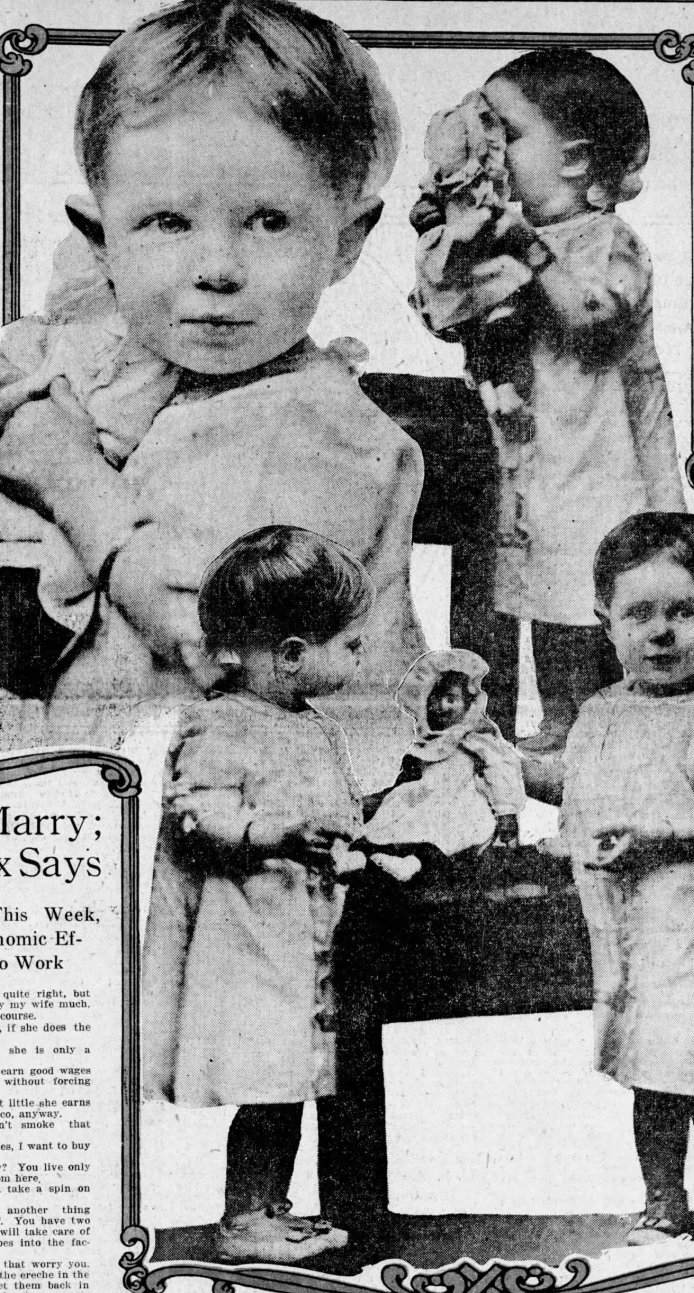

But, really, this can't be another pupil whom the teacher only a girl herself—is calling by name. It is a woman with hair absolutely white, seeing dimly through spectacles and standing rather tottering, her hand on the back of a chair for support, who has risen.

Is she really a high school pupil? Truly, she is, and not only that but the opportunity to conjugate irregular verbs—the opportunity of which she is taking such good advantage—while the 35-year-old teacher listens with an approving smile—is one for which through many years she has longed and waited.

This white-haired pupil is Mrs. Helena Hart, formerly of this city, and now a pupil in the Yeatman High school, in St. Louis. She is seventy years old, she has five children, and she is a great-grandmother.

Mrs. Hart was born here and is the daughter of C. A. Tabor, who was pastor of one of the local churches. She was at school when the civil war broke out. After the war, it was necessary for her to earn a living. When at last she was too old to work, she indulged her life-long desire—the luxury of study—by entering high school.

Georgia's Greatest Chicken Thief

BALDWIN, Ga.—Not far from Baldwin is a wind-beaten cabin huddled at a cross-roads, its shingles curling from long exposure to the weather and its walls hanging crazily as if they would totter and fall at a breath. Here lives Uncle Billy Armstrong, 102 years old and the champion chicken thief of Georgia.

On bright days, Uncle Billy grasps a gnarled hickory cane, places the battered remnant of a beaver hat on his white head, and shuffles down the "big road" to town.

It is six long country miles from Uncle Billy's place to Baldwin, but he walks every step of the way, hobbling along the rutted red of the road for hour after hour, until he reaches the square. Here he finds a seat beneath the aliberty elm and yawns away the sunshine hours with tales of bygone years.

Uncle Billy says he was born in 1811.

He looks it. The brown skin is puckered, into thousands of tiny wrinkles about his rheumy eyes, and his face cracks like old leather when he chuckles toothlessly and rubs the smooth palms of his hands together.

People have come from miles around in Banks county to hear Uncle Billy hold forth regarding the days, "befo' de wah." But most folk would rather hear him brag of his feats at chicken stealing. He claims to have lifted more fat pullets than any dandy in the south.

"Allus git what y' go arter," was Uncle Billy's motto, and he used it in his business. On black nights, when the moon was hidden by tearing clouds and the wind shouting at the windswanes drowned sounds outdoors, Uncle Billy would hide him for the hen house.

When it thundered Uncle Billy yanked off a board. Then he waited a bit. When the lightning flashed up would go Uncle Billy's hand to grab a chicken from the roost. The next moment, with full bag, he was slipping through the darkness toward home.

"Hens nebbet equal of y' grab 'em 'ef de hen ain't pop 'em quick in de sack," says Uncle Billy.

"What are you doing for a living now, Uncle Billy?" inquired a curious townsman the other day, as the old dandy basked in the sun that beat down on his favorite seat.

"I follers mah trade," replied Uncle Billy. "But I've fixen ter raise er crap dis year."

"How much longer do you expect to live?"

"Law, chile," cackled Uncle Billy. "I ain't aiddin' 'bout dyin'." Lak ter git married mighty wald, dough."

City Workhouse Is Home to Fifty or More Old Offenders

Unfortunate Men and Women from the Mean Parts of the City Find It a Sanctuary--A Place of Rest, Where They Gather Strength

By Angus Perkerson

UP THE hill, over the smooth road, came the wagons. The murky day had cleared here at the high point of the city. The mist seemed to lie below and cling only to the hillsides.

The wagons rattled, and voices singing rose from the light fog. The wagon train pushed its head through the mist, and moved into the light.

The muddy roads, even the trees and the houses below, seemed folded in a gray veil. The point of the hill was touched by the sun and stood clear in the evening air. At its feet, the lower country faded.

The wagons creaked, chains rattled, and the men sang. This was the city prison, and the men were the riff-raff of Decatur street. But they entered the grey building as they would homes, and they climbed the hill, they sang with the melody of men working at evening in the open fields.

The city prison has changed its character. Eight years ago it was a reproach. Penologists say now it is unique. So much so, that from 25 to 50 prisoners—half of those confined there—month after month, go back.

Not only is it roof to them, but it is church, doctor, and good adviser. In their last extremity, the city prison—the building on the hilltop—gives them back strength and faint hope, sometimes, even a few weeks of right living.

They speak of it with affection, and the appearance of it, particularly when the wagons wind up the hill, is homely—like a resting place. It seems to invite you to the hilltop to breathe before you go back to the lower country.

Floors of sleeping rooms are concrete and scored daily, windows give clear light and ventilation, shower baths adjoin, with hot and cold water day and night, neat and warm blankets cover each bed, and each is fumigated daily.

This is for negroes from the meanest dives and alleys that lead from Decatur street.

Floor and Tables of The Dining Room Were Scrubbed Till They Shone

T. B. Lanford, superintendent, showed the way into the dining room, where the floor and the tables had a polish. He led the way into the kitchen, which was big, bare, and clean—and into a room where curious sacks hung from the ceiling.

They bulged with what the prisoners come into the prison, and from his clothes inward, even into his very consciousness, he is unclean.

The prison first pays attention to the outer part. His dirty clothes are crumpled into a crozier sack, which is hung from the ceiling against the time of his departure; his skin is scrubbed, a new shirt is put on his back; and the stimulus of general cleanliness and eight or nine hours a day mending the city's highways is tried.

Suppose he has the dope habit, as a very large percentage have? The little white devil that he worships—because it is usually cocaine—is taken away bit by bit, or all at once, if he has the strength; and a week or at most two weeks, finds him almost a man. Sometimes, in a month, one gains thirty or forty pounds; and others, with cheap whiskey as their trouble, show almost equal betterment.

Really the business of the city prison is not to punish or reform, but to give the unfortunate a chance to rest and gather new strength.

Prison Has Become a Sanctuary for the City's Unfortunates

A dozen have not been absent from the prison six months for the last 15 years. Negroes who are sick break laws simply to go there.

White men, whom for the time, it has freed from drink or drugs, return as to a refuge.

To the unfortunates of the mean part of the city, it is a sanctuary; and about it they have built up a sentiment—some of it they have coined phrases that give it the significance of home; in singing of it (for they compose songs outside Decatur street) they use expressions that make it a resting place.

And to a stranger, as he walks away, it is not a prison, but a great home on a hill.

Marries in Jail So Father Can See Her

ROME, Ga., Jan. 30.—Determined to be married in her father's presence, even though the ceremony took place in prison, Miss Maggie Baker, daughter of W. C. Baker, a prisoner whose case was then in the hands of the jury, was wedded recently to Clinton Robinson, a neighbor, in the Floyd county jail.

Justice of the Peace T. B. Broach performed the ceremony while the girl's father watched from behind the bars.

The wedding ceremony was made even more joyful by the fact that a few hours afterwards the jury, which had been deliberating on Baker's case for three days, returned a verdict of acquittal.

Baker, a resident of Lindale, was on trial charged with the murder of E. R. Lane, a year ago. At his first trial he was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the state supreme court granted him a new trial, and this time he was acquitted. On account of the length of the jury's deliberation, Baker feared that the case would result in a mistrial, and that he would be kept in confinement for some time longer. His daughter was unwilling to delay her marriage, and for this reason the ceremony was performed in the jail.

Who is the Most Shot-Up Man In Europe?

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—There is a friendly rivalry among the wounded in the Berlin hospitals for the distinction of having been the worst shot-up man in the war. One who claims 26 wounds holds the present record, but Horst Pfeiffer is envied for his remarkable combinations of perial and luck.

Near Dismude he received an order which he was to take on his bicycle to the firing line. He had to pass, on his way, a road that was exposed to a hot machine-gun fire from the enemy. He was hit eight times and dropped off into a ditch at the side of the road. One bullet had grazed his skull, one through the bone of the right arm, and one struck his left wrist. Two others struck his helmet and his shoes. His comrades finally succeeded in rescuing him from his dangerous position, and sent him to Berlin, where he has been awarded an iron cross.

Why Men Must Marry; What Eugene Brieux Says

Dramatist Who Will Visit Atlanta This Week, Discusses in His Latest Play the Economic Effect of the Woman Who Is Forced to Work

IN every land, in cities and in country, among the laboring classes and the poor, in every home deserted for the saloon or left unfilled by men without the courage to marry, there will arise a woman who will abandon the household and come to stand herself by your side in the shop, the factory, the office, and the counting room. You have not wanted her for your homemaker, she will not consent to be your mistress, so she will become the working woman, your competitor—and your victorious competitor—Adieu."

So ends the latest play of Eugene Brieux, the great playwright, who will visit Atlanta next Thursday and on Friday will be given to the French Alliance here on French literature. A reception will be given to him by Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton, and a dinner by Mrs. E. P. McBurney.

His coming has stirred unusual interest. Brieux and his plays have been the sole literary topic for weeks. For a longer time, his newest play, "The Bachelor Maid," from which the above quotation is taken, has occupied much of the attention of the literary press.

His "Damaged Goods" and "Mater-nity" already are familiar. But neither shows his work better than his latest effort.

Newest Play Tells of Young Woman Whom
Fiance Won't Marry

It introduces "Therese," a young woman, well raised and educated and about to marry happily, when a rash attorney absconds with her fortune. This breaks off the match, for her friend can't afford to marry a girl with no money. She sets out to work, and secures employment with a newly-founded journal, "The New Woman." After trying to leave there because of the jealousy of the publisher, who is a woman, she organizes a women's club in a bookbindery and manages it so well that Vincent, one of the men in the shop, asks her to take in his wife. A part of the dialogue which follows is typical of the play.

Therese: No. I want those who have need to work or who are not needed at home.

Vincent: You are quite right, but I don't ask you to pay my wife much. Not a man's wage, of course.

Therese: Why not, if she does the same work?

Vincent: Because, she is only a woman.

Therese: But you earn good wages here.

Vincent: You can live without forcing your wife to work.

Vincent: Well, what little she earns will pay for my tobacco, anyway.

Therese: You don't smoke that much, come now.

Vincent: But besides, I want to buy a bicycle.

Therese: What for? You live only five minutes' walk from here.

Vincent: So I can take a spin on Sundays.

Therese: There's another thing you've not thought of. You have two little children. Who will take care of them if your wife goes into the factory?

Vincent: Don't let that worry you. She can take them to the creche in the morning dirty and get them back in the evening all cleaned up.

Therese: And supper, who will get that?

Vincent: My wife, when she gets back from work.

Therese: While you take a drink.

Vincent: Yes, I will give her all the time she needs.

Therese: Who will do your mending?

Vincent: My wife.

Therese: When?

Vincent: On Sunday.

Therese: While you are taking your bicycle ride?

Vincent: Yes, it will be a pastime for her. And in the evening I will take her out to watch me play billiards.

When Therese refuses Vincent's request, he threatens her with the power of the union; and brings to bear pressure which results in the wreckage of his business. Therese, standing amid the turmoil, is defeated but defiant.

Therese: There is nothing left in the shop but weeping women. Well, I give way. I will take the evening train for Paris. But you workmen needn't rejoice over it. In this new war of sexes it is they, the men, who will be beaten, for women work cheaper because they have no need of extra

Poor Little Runaway Bride!

CHAPTER I.

SHANKS' M'GEE, carrying one soiled newspaper for a bluff and collecting money for the newsboys' home as another bluff, suddenly paused in his absorbing attempt to whistle through a broken tooth as he saw coming up the dingy side street toward the Hotel Daniel a beautiful young girl. She was turning to look back over her shoulder at every few steps. Oh, gee! A maid was following her! And she was dodging along from tree to tree and from doorway to doorway, and every time he saw the girl look back he ducked! The maid had black whiskers, whittled down to a fine point just under his chin, and he carried himself with the ease which only a thorough scoundrel can acquire. Shanks McGee stood perturbed, then took a long, deep breath and hurried up to the corner. He flattened his already flat nose against the broad plate glass window of the modest Hotel Daniel.

The beautiful young girl conceded all that she could of her timidity as she walked through the door with what she thought to be a strictly businesslike manner. Seven men who had been morbidly spying their respective cupboards immediately straightened up and looked their handsomeness. One of them looked bold, and another, a decorative Frenchman, looked debonair. The beautiful girl strode straight up to the desk.

"A room with a bath, please," she requested. The clerk, an indifferently aged man, held the register a moment while he studied the new guest of the house.

"Any luggage, miss?" The girl, disconcerted, had recourse to her only armor. Now she shyly cast up at him her great, soft, expressive eyes, and the clerk felt ashamed of himself. He swung the register around to her. "My maid will be here presently with my clothes."

The voice was soft and sweet. "Certainly, miss." And the clerk whanged a bell which sounded like a fire gong. "Front!"

In response to that stentorian call a shock-headed, loose-limbed Irish boy jumped forward and took the key to 44. The clerk, without moving his body or his neck or his head, craned forward his eyes to watch the signature, Mrs. J. G. Day.

A moment later the black Vandyked man strolled in, looked at the register and walked into the bar. Then along came Marie with a bundle of clothes. The young woman went straight to the desk. "Mrs. Day's maid?" the clerk observed, inspecting the clothing piece by piece from under his eyelids and ringing for front and looking at the young woman and the register all at the same time. The young woman, quite evidently a maid, glanced swiftly at the register.

"Mrs. Day's?" she repeated, breathing heavily. "Yes!"

"She's expecting you." And the clerk's eyelids flickered. "Room 44."

"Marie, tell June I want her!" cried a voice.

"Sir," she said, "I do not know you."

"Why—er—Ned stammered; then he grabbed the clothes from the maid's arms. "Now you lead me to June!"

"Sir, how dare you?" Marie said and turned appealingly to the clerk.

"These are my wife's clothes!" declared the young man. "She's here. I want her!"

"What's her name?" the clerk demanded.

"Mrs. Ned Warner!"

"Not here."

"June Moore?"

"Oh, come off!" observed the clerk. "If I let you go through the directory you may hit it. Give this girl back her clothes, and good night!"

"This thing has gone far enough, Marie!" bellowed the young man.

At that moment his voice stopped. Out of the bar had strolled elegantly the pride of Shanks McGee, the man with the black Vandyk, and he was neatly nibbling a piece of cheese. He was across the lobby and going out of the door, paying but a scant tribute of curiosity to the knot in front of the desk, before the young man with the clothes saw him. The young man nearly upset Marie on his way to the door.

A porter stopped him to get June's clothes. Ned was then delayed at the ticket window and, glancing across the station, saw Blye getting up on an express.

June Warner looked the door of 44 from the inside and turned the bolt and dropped into a chair to rest. Suddenly a voice called, "It's Marie, Miss Junie!" and a knock was heard.

June Warner opened the door of 44 in a hurry, and her eyes sparkled and she clasped her hands as she saw Marie with clothes sticking from her in all directions.

"Where's my maid?" asked Marie. "Mr. Ned grabbed me downstairs!" He made a scowl.

"Where is he now?" June sat down limply. "I don't know! All at once he threw down the clothes and ran out on the street! I don't know who he is!"

Ned Warner, attended closely by the ecstatic Shanks McGee, stood at the subway exit in a state of seethe beyond computation. Again Gilbert Blye! Honoria Blye, exchanging spite with a green parrot, was suddenly interrupted by a caller.

"Got him!" announced the caller, who was none other than Bill Wolf.

Honoria Blye sprang up instantly.

"Get my wraps!" she yelled to the abnormally ugly maid who had let Bill Wolf in. "Mr. Wolf told me to ask. Are you sure you have found Gilbert Blye?"

"If we ain't, so help me!" solemnly swore Wolf.

Honoria Blye, with Bill Wolf by her side, was soon speeding downtown in her little electric coupe. In front of Luchow's restaurant they found a fat, wide man with a cigar in the corner of his mouth and his narrow rimmed slouch hat shoved on the back of his round head and his eyes turned contemptuously toward the stars.

"Certain party in, Blinky?" husked Wolf.

Blinky Peters followed them inside the busy cafe, and as they walked back toward the Thirtieth street entrance a fat, wide man with his hands in his pockets came in at the rear door—Sneaky Tavis.

"There's your party!" suddenly hissed Bill Wolf and pointed to a table where a dark Vandyked German with spectacles was entertaining a healthy, red-cheeked young woman with a green feather in her hat.

"You scum!" shrieked Honoria Blye to her three expert detectives and went home to her parrot.

Ned Warner stepped into the cigar store next door to the Hotel Daniel and telephoned June's home in Bryn Mawr. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were in the city at Bobbie Biehering's, the smooth, soft voice of fat, black old Aunt Debby told him.

Biehering's and the cheery voice of Bobbie. Yes, the Moores were there. And June was located? Great! Stanch Bobbie's the clerk observed, when Ned said he wanted the Moores and Bobbie and Iris to come down to the Hotel Daniel.

the hotel. He had had a quarter and one of her compelling smiles from June and a glance from her lovely eyes, and he had but just then down through the basement and out the rear servants' entrance and had told them a place to go where no one would ever find them.

Gone! The six shocked searchers for the runaway bride hurried downstairs just as Honoria Blye stepped in, followed by Blinky Peters and Sneaky Tavis.

"Where's he?" screamed Mrs. Blye.

Bill Wolf advanced to do his happy duty.

"There he is, lady!" he shouted triumphantly while Blinky Peters and Sneaky Tavis slunk up, one on each side of the culprit. "Nab him, boys!"

"Mon Dieu!" cried the culprit as the four fat paws of Blinky Peters and Sneaky Tavis clapped down on his arms. The rest of the objection was an incomprehensible polyglot jumble as, shrieking his indignation, the black bearded Frenchman strove to wrench himself free.

"Is that the man you meant?" hissed Honoria.

"That ain't the guy?" yelled Shanks McGee, who was willing to be kicked out now. "Gilbert Blye slunked in here after the beautiful girl and ducked into the subway when she sport gives him the run!"

"This is the limit!" declared the clerk to one and all as strong porters and agile bell hops headed his way. "Get 'em out, Mike!"

Quite a little crowd had collected when suddenly a policeman appeared from around a corner and dispersed the mob, including Honoria.

That vigorous lady had barely turned the corner, heading for the avenue, when a brilliantly lighted, luxurious limousine stopped in front of the Hotel Daniel. Shanks McGee's eyes began to stretch as he saw the occupants, and he whirled in a complete circle in his efforts to locate without the loss of a second Bill Wolf and Blinky Peters and Sne

Evils Done by Combinations Of Rich Men To Promote Good

One Group, Numbering No More Than a Score of Men, Are Endeavoring to Govern the Nation's Education

By Bishop W.A. Candler Investigating Investigators

UNDER the caption written above, the Saturday Evening Post, prints the following brief editorial:

"The Federal commission on industrial relations announces that it will investigate the Rockefeller foundation, the Russell Sage foundation, the Carnegie foundation and the Baron de Hirsch fund. The first three are themselves investigating bodies. Whether they do their investigating well or ill can hardly be anybody's business except their own."

"The nation has, however, an undeniable right to inquire into the future economic effects of huge foundations which may be expected to increase vastly as the decades pass. Administered by trustees with broad powers, funds of gigantic proportions have almost as great potentialities for evil as for good."

The Editor of the Post is clearly correct in the view which he expresses, and he suggests two points about which wise men will think much and seriously.

The point is that these huge foundations may be expected to increase vastly as the years pass. The men who have created these foundations will continue adding to them doubtless, and they will be able to influence others also to make gifts to them.

Moreover, these foundations may have interacting boards of directors, and thus form the most powerful alliances. This is true already with reference to the Carnegie and Rockefeller foundations, several men being on both boards, and Mr. Andrew Carnegie himself being a member of the board which controls the Rockefeller Educational fund.

The significance of all this was set forth by Mr. John Rockefeller, Sr., on the occasion of the Carnegie's acceptance of a place on the Rockefeller board. The founder of the Rockefeller fund said: "If a combination to do business is effective in saving waste and in getting better results, why is not combination far more important in philanthropic work? The great ideal of co-operation in giving for education scored a real step in advance when Mr. Andrew Carnegie decided to become a member of the General Board of Education," i.e., a member of the Rockefeller board.

The country knows well what Mr. Rockefeller means by a "combination to do business." In the dialect of the Standard Oil company that phrase has meant to destroy all others engaged in the oil business, and to do as you please with the oil market. It has had a similar significance among the Standard Oil companies. Mr. Carnegie is Chief. Shall we have such methods? Some years ago Dr. W. H. C. Gladden denounced Standard Oil money as "tainted," shall we have tainted education also?

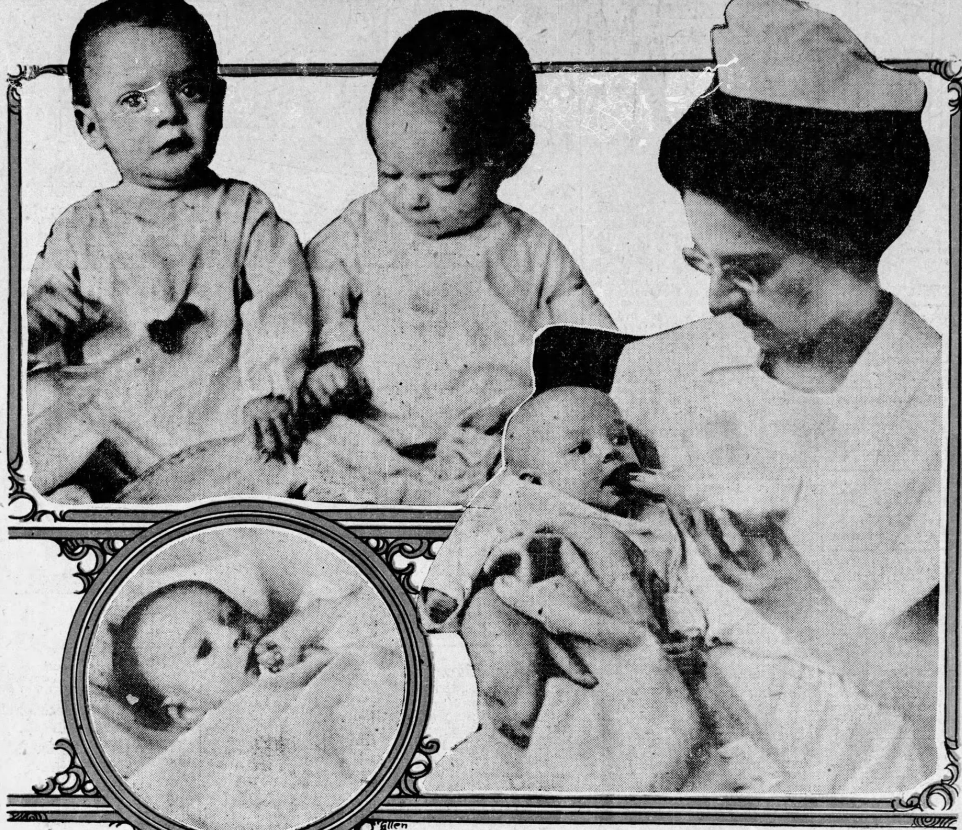

Again, the editor of the Post is right when he says, "Administered by trustees with broad powers, funds of gigantic proportions have almost as great potentialities for evil as for good." He might have added that they are more potent for evil than for good. In the few years of their existence these huge foundations have grown into a power which they could not control and affected hundreds of institutions to which they make donations.

At an early day in the history of these huge foundations, that able and inimitable paper, "The New York Journal of Commerce," said, "A system of giving which has its own rules and customs, which is governed by principles of selection laid down in the beginning, which ramifies throughout the country, and embraces especially those smaller institutions that are hampered by narrow means, is an infinitely more powerful force in the shaping of opinion than any amount of capitalistic wealth makes separate and often unconditional gifts to be controlled and invested by the institutions themselves, could ever be. As a mechanism for controlling academic opinion, there has, perhaps, never been anything in the history of the world which would compare with the board system of subsidizing learning." Mark carefully that sentence! It is full of solemn meaning.

A group of men, numbering no more than a score of persons, is undertaking to determine the character of education for our whole country. This is what the Outlook, edited by Dr. Lyman Abbott, predicted would be the outcome of the Rockefeller Foundation. When that foundation was established by Mr. Rockefeller, the editor of the Outlook said: "It can do in many ways what the government does for education in France and Germany. Its power is enormous; it seems as if it might be able to determine the character of American education."

And let it be remarked that this enormous power is exercised in utter irresponsibility to any authority of church or state. It is not true of the French and German governments. The university of any one of the states is responsible to the people, and wealth which created and sustains it, and a college or a church is responsible

BABIES THAT NEVER CRY

Tearless Little Folks of Grady Hospital

They Are Sojourners at Grady Hospital And They Never Cry Because They Are Never Coddled or "Loved" Like Other Babies

THEY lie in their iron beds on the big breeze-swept roof and gaze, wide-eyed, at you as the white-robed nurse leads you past. Some of them twist their tiny features into a smile and gurgle a greeting, and some only stare in stolid silence. But none of those babies at Grady seem to cry. "No, we don't know just why," says the nurse. "But they don't. That's all."

"We have a dozen or two babies in the ward nearly all the time. They arrive fretful, peevish, irritable. Sometimes the mother tells us the baby has cried for hours at a time. But after she has kissed the little one good-bye and given it its pillow a final pat and gone home the baby cries just a little and then makes up its mind it might just as well stop and see what's going on. You can see for yourself how quiet the ward is now."

"Perhaps it's because they aren't being spoiled. If a baby learns that it will be taken up and coddled and 'loved' and fed when it cries, why, that of course it will cry whenever it wants to be noticed."

"But in a hospital we look upon a baby's cries as a signal of distress. We see if there's anything wrong, and if there isn't we leave the baby alone. So he soon learns that crying is of no use, and when he hears that he stops. Maybe one has something to cry about, and his yells start the others. But the ward soon becomes quiet again."

Why Men Must Marry

pay to spend in the saloon. And it won't be only the workmen who will get beaten. The young men who are afraid to marry girls without dowry will later find their path blocked by these unfortunate women who they have compelled to go to work. You must choose your side. New times have come."

Then, follows the concluding part of his adieu, with which this article began.

Eugene Brieux was born in Paris in 1858. He was thirty-four years getting a hearing on the French stage. In all he has written two dozen plays, in which he has muckraked the professions, one by one.

His play "L'Evolution," dealing with doctors, begins with this conversation between a famous physician and his assistant:

Doctor—"Is there anything you wanted to ask me about?"

Assistant—"Yes, doctor, a patient who does not improve."

Doctor—"That will happen, Assistant—Of course. But he wants to go to Lourdes."

Doctor—"Let him go."

Assistant—"But think! What if he should be cured?"

Doctor—"You can always find some scientific explanation."

Assistant—"A suggestion?"

Doctor—"Certainly. That accounts for everything. Anything else?"

Assistant—"No, thank you."

able to the body which owns and controls it. But to what authority are the trustees of these allied boards, founded by Mr. Carnegie, and Mr. Rockefeller, responsible? They have enormous power, they can exert it as they please, killing or creating institutions of learning at will. And if the charters under which they operate are continued, their power, already perilously great, will increase from year to year. At the rate with which they have set out, in twenty years they can control higher education in the United States. Such a

Assistant—"Yes. No. 4 remains in the same state."

Doctor—"You have tried every thing?"

Assistant—"Everything."

Doctor—"Even doing nothing?"

Assistant—"Even doing nothing. None of us can tell what is the matter with him."

Doctor—"We will find out at the autopsy. We must wait."

Assistant—"Meanwhile stopping all treatment?"

Doctor—"One ought never to give the impression of not taking an interest in a patient. That would be a mistake. Do something. No matter what."

Bernard Shaw said of the man who is to be Atlanta's guest, that since the death of Ibsen he is the most important dramatist west of Russia.

"The French theater has been the comedy of humanity to be played for the amusement of the Gods—rather than for that of the French public, there is no number in the barren plain from Mount Olivette to our own times until we reach Ibsen."

Thieves Invited to Laying Of the Cornerstone for Burglar-Proof Chicken Coop

Brooks County Mule That Has Made 30 Crops in 30 Years—Letter from Witness to United States Commissioner at Rome Ga.

MOUTRIE, Ga., Jan. 30.—A granite chicken house, double-locked, double-barred, and fixed with an electric burglar-alarm will be built here soon by C. R. Atwater. He has posted on his front gate an invitation to all the chicken thieves of the neighborhood to attend the laying of the cornerstone, and to inspect the plans of the new "coop."

This invitation is a defiance. He intends to build his new chicken house so carefully that it shall be absolutely proof against burglars.

Let them come and look, if they choose, and learn his plans thoroughly. When all the double-locks and double-bars and electric alarms are in place, he defies any burglar to break in.

But for the time being this vault will be the habitation of one lone hen. This is all that is left of Mr. Atwater's brood of chickens. One by one the others have been stolen.

This persistent theft determined him to build a chicken coop, and to equip it as though precious gold were stored within. Not only has he invited all the thieves to attend the laying of the cornerstone, but he has arranged to have the event surrounded with unusual ceremony.

Mule Makes 30 Crops in 30 Years

QUITMAN, Ga., Jan. 30.—The mule is recognized as the farming partner of the Georgia planter and is an indispensable factor, whether cotton is grown or the hog and hominy program is adopted. Since the memory of man runs not to the contrary the mule has furnished a subject for bucolic humor.

Proverbs and stories abound concerning the mule and through them he has developed a personality of sorts. Too often these stories concern themselves with the wicked ways of some mules, and the virtues of individual mules remain unused because lacking in picturesque quality.

Mollie, a Brooks county mule, has a record of such long and honorable service she deserves to be held up as an example of the faithful qualities of her kind.

Mollie belongs to R. P. Harrington, of Mowen and she has made thirty crops for him there in the past thirty years.

Mr. Harrington bought her in Quitman thirty years ago and says she is thirty-two years old.

Mollie also proves to anybody who is interested in such peculiarities that mules turn gray with age, just like people. Mollie was sleek and black when Mr. Harrington first bought her and she is now perfectly white. The transformation occurred gradually, changing from black to gray and from gray to white.

Though not as spry as in her youth, Mollie is still on the job and can do as much work in a day as many a younger but unseasoned mule would do. After the crop-making was over last season Mollie took her turn at a sawmill during the winter.

Mr. Harrington believes the South Georgia climate good for both mules and people and that Mollie's excellent health are due to the salubrious conditions.

Loring Kelly's Dog Comes Home

DALTON, Ga., Jan. 30.—With one ear missing and nothing more than a stub for a tail, a high-class bird dog, of the pointer species, missing for two months and finally given up as lost, has returned home, little the worse for wear.

The dog is owned by Loring Kelly, who, the last of November, let some friends take him on a hunting trip to Tilton. There the dog encountered a train, and tried his best to outrun it.

He succeeded until he had to slow down to take a long trestle, and then the train caught him. When the train left the trestle, the dog could not be found. Later a bloody trail was discovered in the woods, and the dog was thought to have died.

But he's back and ready for many hunts, with hearing slightly impaired and deprived of the knack, possessed by all dogs except the stub-tailed variety, of walking a fooling.

Queer Excuse of Court Witness

ROME, Ga., Jan. 30.—A unique excuse for absence as a witness in a case now pending in the court of United States Commissioner J. C. Pruitt was received yesterday by the commissioner. The letter is from Arthur Lowery, of Walker county, and is as follows: "I cannot come to your court because I have the smallpox. I hope this finds you with it no worse. I will be there as soon as I can. Anyway, I did not see any whiskey at Love's place. If it had been there I wouldn't have seen it, because I was looking for a rabbit. When I make whiskey nobody sees me doing it. I caught the rabbit."

City's Biggest Campaign for Health is Among Negroes

"If We Can Get Them to Live as They Did Before the War, Everyone Will Benefit," Says Dr. Claude Smith

IF WE can get the negroes to live as they did before the civil war, we will benefit the health of every man and woman in Atlanta. By living as they did before the war, I mean eating plain food three times a day, sleeping enough, and sleeping in well-ventilated houses.

Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, in making this statement last week, was explaining a campaign for health that he and Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer, will make.

"About one-third of the population in Atlanta," continued Dr. Smith, "are negroes; and about one-half of the deaths in this city are among negroes. This, as you see, shows that negroes are dying in much greater number than white people."

"The greatest health problem in Atlanta is to teach negroes how to live. The reason why they die in great number here is because of their careless way of living. It would be better if the houses in which they live were not as well built as they are. Tuberculosis among negroes is caused by their refusal to sleep with windows up, or at any time to pay attention to ventilation."

It is also caused by their careless way of eating, and by their disregard of all such laws of health as regular sleep.

Death Rate Here Among Negroes Less Than In New York

"Fewer negroes in proportion to their total number die here than in the north. If one-third of New York city's population was made up of negroes, the death rate in New York city would be much greater than the death rate here."

"In all southern cities negroes have better health than in the north. Their death rate here cannot be blamed on the city. It is due to their individual carelessness."

"In the effort to educate them and to decrease the mortality among them, Dr. Kennedy and myself are planning to give lectures in negro communities, in which we will explain the simple ways to live healthfully."

"The most important effort in the way of health that we will undertake this year are these lectures. Negroes are not used to their own relations. They come into our homes, into our offices. What affects them, affects us. The spread of tuberculosis among negroes is a menace to white people."

"Before the civil war, negroes were the healthiest people in the world. Now, they are the most unhealthy. Then, they were made to live sensibly; now, they must be induced to do so."

"They must be persuaded to eat as sensibly as they can, and to sleep with the windows up. Most negroes keep the windows down and pull the covers over their heads."

"We wish to try to make negroes as healthy as they were in ante bellum days."

Man Who Has No Debtors

ROME, Ga., Jan. 30.—Nicholas Self, known and wide in this section of Georgia, as one man whom everybody "pays," was fined $5 last week in record time. Self, who uses his own expression, "took it out of their hides when they didn't pay him." The result was, everybody paid. But on his debtors, John Carter, took objection last week to Self's methods, and a case was made in the recorder's court.

Jim Adams Sells 5,000 Rabbits

Clever Jim Adams, of Klondike, was in town yesterday. He has bought and shipped to Athens, Atlanta, and other markets this season over 5,000 rabbits for which he has received good prices. The rabbit "industry" with him seems to be a pretty big thing.—From the Gainesville News.

on one side and the sad sea on the other; the winds are just as soft and pleasant as the sun seems to forget to shine and warm the heart. But when these great looms loomed upon the flower-laden peace and restfulness departed for man has made this not a place of rest, but one of the most active. That is Palm Beach in a nut shell.

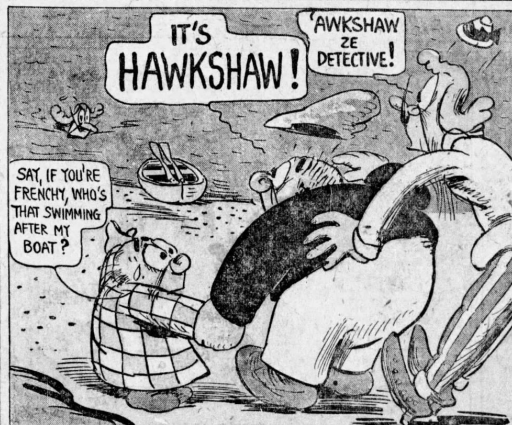

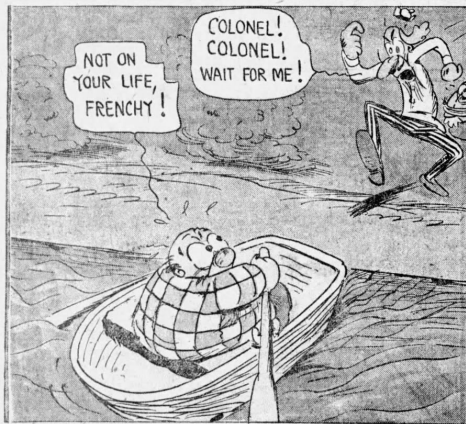

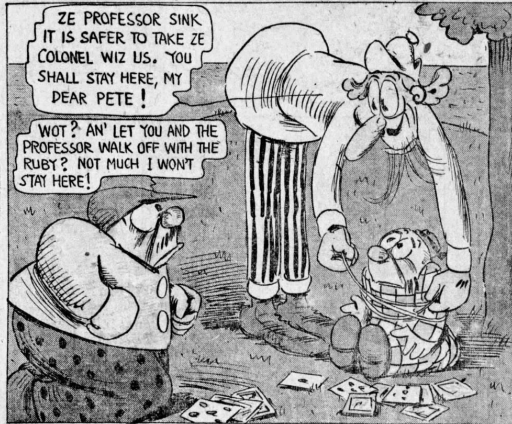

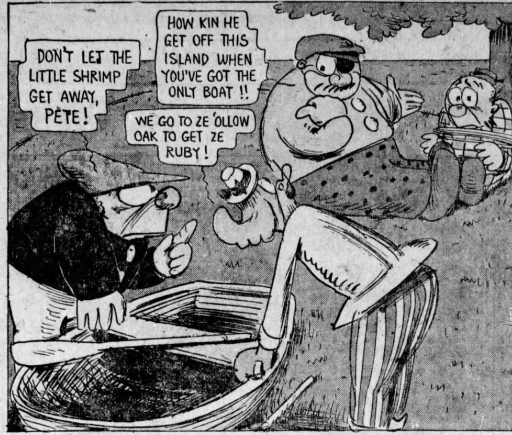

At midnight we were sufficed. We all long for our accustomed stillness and repose. Back on the "Venezia" we sit on deck a long time, breathing the stars that tremble on the bosom of Lake Worth and listening to the strains of the orchestra. Still trying to amuse the giddy crowd which will sleep tonight and awake tomorrow, all oblivious of the real charm of this matchless spot.
